

SYSTEMATIC "TIP-OFFS" OF LIQUOR RAIDS DISCLOSED

Restaurant and Drink Stand Proprietor Tells of Being Informed of Issuance of Search Warrant.

LATER TAKEN ON POSSESSION CHARGE

Two Men Named by John Tadoni in Payment of $100 for "Fixing" the Case Are Arrested.

A tip-off system, by which hangers-on of the Prosecuting Attorney's office promptly notify persons against whom search warrants have been issued in liquor cases, is shown by an affidavit obtained by the police from John T.

Tadoni, who was arrested in a raid on his place Nov. 7, when whiskey was confiscated there, by city detectives, swore an affidavit that he paid $100 to a former bondsman, a frequenter of the Municipal Courts Building, to have his case "fixed." The same man, he says, gave him information by telephone Nov. 3 that a search warrant for his place had been issued, and warned him to hide his stock of liquor which he did until the 7th, the day of the raid.

Tadoni also said that a negro, known to him as a hanger-on of the Prosecuting Attorney's office, made a request of him for $75 for supposed help in "fixing" the case, and that he promised to pay the negro $35, but has not yet done so.

The negro mentioned by Tadoni, Fred Blackie of 4402 West Bell place, a former Municipal Courts building janitor, and more recently a hanger-on and runner of errands for Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer's office, was arrested this afternoon on a charge of extortion. Louis Grass, mentioned by Tadoni as having accompanied Black when he demanded for money was made, was also arrested.

No Prosecution Pending.
No prosecution is pending against Taddonl, and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fania said today that no warrant or information had been issued in the case, except two search warrants. Fania refused to issue an information in the case, despite the evidence obtained, on the ground that the city detectives who obtained the search warrants had not used them within a reasonable time.

The police, who have been in frequent conflict with the Prosecution's office as to liquor cases, probably will place Taddonl's affidavit before Circuit Attorney Idener, with a request for a grand jury investigation.

The detectives, Abbott and Frank, of the Magnolia Station, then obtained a search warrant Nov. 3, but having reason to believe—as is now shown to have been the case—that Tadoni had been tipped off, they waited four days before using the search warrant. On Nov. 7, they called at the office of the clerk of the Municipal Correction and had the date of the search warrant changed to read Nov. 7. They then served the search warrant at once.

The detectives went to the Proseutent's Attorney's office, No. 9th, and were told by Fania that the warrant would be issued, but the issue book of the office shows that a warrant, charging possession of liquor, was made out, and then

Fania's Statement in Case.

Fania says the reason for cancellation was that he learned the child of Nov. 7 was made on the search warrant which he had issued the 3d, and that he considered an interval more than a reasonable time. However, as stated, the date had been changed to Nov. 7. Fania said the date of issuance of the search warrant still appeared on his record as Nov. 3, and that the stenographer in the Court had not been given authority to change the date. The stenographer said that Judge Miller, presiding over Division No. 1 of the Court of Criminal Correction, authorized her to make the alteration requested.

Fania and Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer said that the legal requirement, that search warrants served within a reasonable time as interpreted by them as meaning within 24 hours. They said that when policemen carry search

PAINLIEVE OUT; BRIAND ASKED TO BECOME PREMIER

Fall of Cabinet Follows Charge by Deputy That Financiers Had Tip on Policy and Cashed In.

"BANK SCANDAL," MEMBER ALLEGES

Request of Briand to Take Premiership Ninth Time
He Has Been Invited to Do So.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 23.—For the ninth time in his long political career Aristide Briand today received the charge of the President of the republic to form a cabinet, and tonight he stands on the verge of accepting his eighth Premiership. M. Briand promised President Doumergue that he would consult his friends and give him a definite reply today.

"The man of Locarno" was the President's first choice last spring to head the Government after the fall of M. Herriot, but the Socialists refused their support and compelled M. Doumergue to call M. Painleve, the retiring Premier.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The Painleve government fell, threw their 75 tumultuous session of the Chamber of Deputies over the finance bill. It was beaten by three votes yesterday on the question of consolidation of national defense bonds.

The communists, in a sudden wave of hostility, threw their 75 votes against Premier Painleve and changed what had been a majority of 23 to a minority. The vote for the government was 275, against 273.

The communists were turned against the Government by a charge of the moderate Deputy, Pierre Etienne Flandin, that banks had made a big killing because they were tipped off in advance that the Government intended to consolidate the Treasury notes, due Dec. 8, and convert them quickly at the Bank of France.

"The December 8 notes are worth 350 francs on the ticket, but they were reimbursed at the Bank of France for 500," Flandin declared. "It was a clean-up of 140 francs on every 500 franc Treasury note; it is a scandal."

Seven Days for Speculation.
In the argument which ensued it developed that there had been seven days, between Nov. 10, when the bill was framed, and Nov. 17 when it was announced, during which speculation had a chance.

Marcel Cachin, communist leader, said the banks had speculated successfully, so only small bondholders would be compelled to take new notes instead of cash. On this the communists based their later decision to vote against the bill.

The deputies had argued hotly since 9 o'clock in a chamber chilled by the bitter cold of a Sunday morning over Article 3 of Painleve's bill for an extraordinary national contribution. Painleve urged that there was no way to avoid inflation except by consolidating the bonds due Dec. 8. The opposition called this a declaration of bankruptcy by the state.

Maurice Bokanowski, Polonais, led the fight, saying France dare not fail to meet her obligations on the nail with money, for failure would bring about the end of the nation's credit. The state is like a bank and cannot declare its inability to pay, he argued.

Painleve replied: "I could you prefer to pay with currency which will lose its value?"

As a parting shot Bokanowski declared Painleve was preparing for France another Chemin des Dames, a reference to a disastrous campaign under Painleve during the war.

KNEE-JOINT OPERATION WITH BONE TAKEN FROM DEAD BODY

By the Associated Press.
LENINGRAD, Nov. 23.—Prof. Opell of Leningrad announced today before a conference of physicians and surgeons that he had successfully transplanted a bone from a dead body to a woman patient suffering from tuberculosis of the knee joint, which prevented her from walking. After the operation the woman in a short time was able to walk freely.

The surgeon also said he performed a similar operation on a woman suffering from sarcoma of the hip.

WATERWAY MEN IN SESSION HERE URGE BOND ISSUE

feeling our waterway problem as compared with 10 or 15 years ago? Some progress, of course, has been made, and work upon some projects is proceeding in a fairly satisfactory manner. But viewing the situation as a whole, are we not forced to the inevitable and unescapable conclusion that we are victims of a parsimonious, penny-pinching public policy, which can be excused upon no other hypothesis than that those who control the making and carrying out of governmental policy at Washington are woefully ignorant of the transportation problem in general and the waterway problem in particular?

"Coming, as I do, from the most southern of Southern States, I hesitate to give voice to my opinion in respect to this matter for fear of a charge of partisan bias, and so I am leant at once to say that this peculiar brand of what might be called official ignorance does not appear to bear any special political label, but seems to have been the common characteristic of every administration which has controlled our national affairs for the past quarter of a century.

Demanding by Business.
"Just what the trouble is, I am frank to say I do not know, but it may be, after all, in the failure of the American people themselves to entrust their business to those who are properly acquainted with the country's needs." The time has come when the business of this country, irrespective of party, should be conducted by business men, who by virtue of experience, capacity and vision, have some adequate conception of what our country needs and the service the Government should render to the taxpayers.

"It is my judgment that if the question as to whether the waterways of this country, which have been recommended for improvement for transportation purposes by the Government Engineers, should be constructed and completed in the shortest possible time consistent with proper economy and good engineering practice, could be submitted to the Congress of the United States today for definitive and final determination, it would be carried by an overwhelming vote in the affirmative and whatever funds necessary for that purpose would be authorized without delay.

"The difficulty is in the system of procedure. Congress, by its own vote, created the budget, and, having done so, doubtless feels a responsibility to adhere to it and carry it through.

"The budget has been in operation several years, but at no time during the existence has it recommended to Congress an adequate sum for waterways. At no time has it come within $10,000,000 of the amount which the chief of engineers, after careful consideration of the needs of commerce, has stated was required, and in many instances it has recommended an amount considerably less than half that which the chief of engineers declared was necessary.

"And so we come to the crux of the whole matter. Congress has acted within its rights. The chief of engineers has discharged his duty by recommending to Congress each year the appropriation of sufficient amounts which would have resulted in the completion of those projects within a reasonable time. But the authority of Congress and the duty of the chief of engineers have both been subverted by the budget, which, virtually and to all practical effects, says to Congress: 'You made a mistake when you adopted these projects. You did not know what you were doing, and so instead of appropriating $10,000,000 or $40,000,000 a year to make good your word and to do the things which you said ought to be done when you adopted and authorized these projects, you can only appropriate $20,000,000, $30,000,000, or $40,000,000 a year, as the case may be. You shall in no event appropriate the amount which the chief of engineers says you should appropriate in order to complete them within a reasonable time."

"I am not one of those who would fly in the face of official authority, but if this is, in fact, a Government of the people, by the people, and for the people, it seems to me the time has come when we should get back to the practice of real democracy and seek relief from bureaucratic authority and control. If the chief of engineers is not the proper authority to give the Congress of the United States advice upon this important matter, Congress should change its practice and say that he and his department are incompetent and that the director of the budget, by his ipse dixit, shall be the sole source of information and authority as to what should or should not be done, or as to what can or cannot be done."

Transportation Big Problem.
Agriculture is by far the greatest industry of the Mississippi Valley, and one of its biggest problems is transportation. O. E. Brad, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said at the opening session of the Mississippi Valley Association convention.

"We need the railroads improved to the highest possible point, but we need more than the railroads," he said. "They have reached the limits of their development as far as construction of new lines is concerned. They are carrying the greatest traffic in their history—1,000,000 cars loaded every week for the last 12 months."

"The wheat shipper is paying 30 to 35 cents a bushel to land his grain in Liverpool, the price there fixes the price for the whole wheat output of the United States. The freight cost for the first 1000 miles of that haul is two or three times as great as for the next 2000 or 3000 miles, because it is largely by rail, and the rest of the way is by water."

"If such transportation costs can be maintained on the rivers? Certainly, they demand tonnage, and the lakes, why can't they also be maintained at much less cost than the building of new rail lines."

"This would not take away the work of the railroads. The Mississippi Valley is at the very beginning of its development. It can support five times its present population and still have a surplus to help feed the rest of the country."

Stresses Need of Fertilizer.
Touching on the leaching out of important elements in the soil of the Middle West, he remarked, "Why not use the rivers to convey back to the Middle West a kind of fertilizer to replace that which has gone down the rivers? Why not develop Muscle Shoals and other such projects for the manufacture of fertilizers, and then use the rivers to convey it back to the Middle West?"

"The annual import of Chilean nitrates alone reaches 1,000,000 tons a year, at a cost there of $50,000,000 a year, to say nothing of what it costs to get it here. German chemists have shown that this fertilizing element can be produced at one-half, one-third or even one-fourth the cost of the production in Chile. At my Ohio farm, one-half to one-third the cost of the fertilizer is the freight cost."

"Indiana and Ohio now are demanding great quantities of this fertilizer. The demand is growing farther and farther west. Muscle Shoals will be only a drop in the bucket. These great power plants should be connected by the rivers, with a direct water route and a short truck haul, at a very reduced freight rate, with the farmers at the other end."

Must Go Through, Hawes Says.
Congressman Harry B. Hawes called attention to the fact that in the valleys of the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri Rivers, was produced 50 per cent of the entire corn output of the nation, two-thirds of the exportable produce, 80 per cent of the nation's wheat and virtually all of its rye, barley, flaxseed, sugar-cane and oats. Adding that three-fourths of the nation's livestock was here produced, he said that the potential productive wealth of the area's 295,000,000 acres was incalculable.

"The Mississippi Valley," he said, "is larger than the area of the whole of continental Europe. Its development in less than 100 years probably is the most remarkable chapter in the history of our national growth."

"Insofar as the improvement of our waterways are concerned, we cannot say the expenditure has been a failure, for the project has not been completed. We have come too far to stop now. The possibilities are too great, the previous national investment is too large to falter. We must go through."

Roy Miller was selected as chairman of the Resolutions Committee at the close of the forenoon session. H. W. Seaman of Clinton, Ia., the member of the advisory board of the Inland Waterways Corporation who has been delegated to inquire into development possibilities of the Upper Mississippi, was made chairman of the Nominating Committee. The committee are to report at the closing session tomorrow afternoon.

United States Senator Williams of Missouri said that $174,000,000 had been expended on inland waterway development and that engineers estimated $75,000,000 additional was needed to complete the system.

"This must not be doled out piecemeal, however," he said. "If the total were given in a lump sum our troubles would be over."

Dinner tonight for Davis.
Speakers for the dinner tonight in honor of Secretary of War Davis will be, besides the Secretary, who will speak on "Co-Operation and Not Competition in Transportation," Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois and Major-General Harry Taylor, chief of engineers.

TOLD TO CONCEAL FACTS, DIRIGIBLE SURVIVOR ASSERTS

Chief Rigger of Shenandoah Says Officer Advised Against Giving Details Unless Asked For.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Arthur E. Carlson, aviation chief rigger of the wrecked Shenandoah, today told one of the surviving officers of the airship, Lieut. C. Bauch, that he had not given the information he was likely to leak out. However, in Tandon's case, the information had leaked out immediately, and the police's delay was for the purpose of permitting the aviation chief to make a statement.

Negro Questioned by Prosecutor.
Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer called Fred Black into his office this morning and questioned him about the alleged demand for money.

Black admitted having talked with Tandon and the former bondsman, in the hallway of the Municipal Courts Building, and he said that Tandon asked "whether any warrant had been issued against him."

"I told him only the search warrants," Black said. "By that time everyone around the office knew about the search warrants. Black did not remember the date, but said it was after the date of Tandon's arrest, Nov. 1. Black denied having solicited any money, but said Tandon offered to pay him for his trouble."

Steps Taken to Stop "Leak."
The Prosecuting Attorney decided, after questioning Black, that he knew too much about the business of the office, and he issued orders that both Black and the former bondsman, named in Tandon's affidavit, be kept out of the Prosecuting Attorney's office in future.

Report of Detectives.
Detectives Abbott and Frank, in their report on the case, said that in getting the first search warrant, Nov. 3, they named John De Marchi as proprietor, but that when they called at the place that evening, Tandon said he was proprietor. They looked about for liquor, but did not produce the search warrant. As they were leaving, a young man said to them "You didn't find anything, did you? We were tipped off that you had a search warrant."

They got a second search warrant, Nov. 5, naming Tandon as proprietor, but the one which they used Nov. 7 was the first one, repeated the 7th. They used the second search warrant on the 9th, and they say Tandon offered them $25 a week for protection, and gave Abbott $11, which Abbott held as evidence.

After Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fania had informed them that he had canceled the warrant against Tandon, the detectives went to Assistant City Attorney Fish to learn whether Tandon could be prosecuted for bribery or attempted bribery. They were told that, as no prosecution was pending in the case, they should not proceed with the prosecution.

Additional was needed to complete the system.

"This must not be doled out piecemeal, however," he said. "If the total were given in a lump sum our troubles would be over."

Dinner tonight for Davis.
Speakers for the dinner tonight in honor of Secretary of War Davis will be, besides the Secretary, who will speak on "Co-Operation and Not Competition in Transportation," Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois and Major-General Harry Taylor, chief of engineers.

Tip-Offs in Cases of Liquor Raids Disclosed

Tandon, at his home today, told a Post-Dispatch reporter in detail of the circumstances attending and following the first raid, but said nothing about the second raid and the bribe offer.

"I have been in the saloon and restaurant business four years," he said. "I have been raided several times."

On Nov. 3 I got a telephone call from a man who does business around the municipal courts. He said a search warrant had been issued for my place, and that I should get my stuff out of the way. I got the stuff out of the way, but there was no raid that day, or the next three days, so on Sunday, the seventh, I put some of the whiskey back. Soon after that, the detectives raided the place and took the whiskey.

"The next day, Sunday, the eighth, the man who had telephoned to me came to see me, and said he would get me a first-class warrant, but he wouldn't charge me the $50, because the tip hadn't done me any good."

"I told him to come the next day, Monday the ninth, and when he came I had $50 that I got from my wife and $50 that I borrowed elsewhere, and paid him."

"The colored man that I had seen around the courts building came around the night of Nov. 7, a few hours after the ninth, and he came I had $50 that I got from my wife and $50 that I borrowed elsewhere, and paid him."

REICHSTAG DEBATES LOCARNO AGREEMENT

Chancellor Luther Reiterates Statement Cabinet Will Oppose After Signing of Treaty.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Debates on the Locarno security pact and the Locarno treaties began in the Reichstag today, with every prospect of favorable action on the Government's motion for ratification.

Chancellor Luther reiterated statement of Friday that the Government would resign after the signature of the Locarno Convention in London on Dec. 1, and that the new Cabinet would be one in sympathy with the Locarno pact and its obligations.

"Better Basis for Peace."
Defining the meaning of the Locarno agreement, the Chancellor said it was to create a new better foundation for the peace development of all the nations of Europe.

"From this," he added, "it follows that all the restrictions imposed on Germany must be removed—all that are imposed with real peace, that result from a full reconstruction of the world economy, the ability to pay reparations."

"On the conclusion of this pact, Germany's occupation of the Rhine will be ended, but, however, the German people cannot see when the happy ending of the occupation will be realized, other nations must wait at the lack of enthusiasm for Locarno here, even among the approving."

Germany Awaiting Peace.
"Germany has so often been appointed by promises that she can only believe when actions speak words."

RUSSIA STILL AGAINST LEAGUE.

SAFE ROBBERS OPEN FOUR BOXES IN ONE BUILDING

Three Jewelry Firms in Victoria Building Believed by Police to Have Lost $100,000 in Goods.

INSURANCE OFFICE
ALSO VISITED

Watchman Bound Saturday Night by Two Members of Band — Operations Last Three Hours.

Three jewelry firms in the Victoria Building, Eighth and Locust streets, whose safes were forcibly opened and looted early yesterday by a band of robbers, who had disarmed a 74-year-old watchman, today are making inventory to determine their losses, which police have estimated at $100,000 or more.

The offices robbed were those of the Fisher Jewelry Co., Room 604, whose loss is estimated at approximately $40,000; Greenstreet-Monty Jewelry Co., 510-511, and Edward J. Gallant, jewelry jobber, 505. No definite estimates were obtained from the latter two places. The office of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., Room 811, was robbed of some of the firm's records, which were only partially protected.

Only Valuable Jewels Taken.
The robbers, three to five in number, showed knowledge of gem values in selecting the gems and jewelry, concentrating on diamonds and diamonds with platinum and gold mountings. A few expensive Swiss and American watches also were taken, but jewelry of lesser value was scattered everywhere. The safe of an expensive diamond harp, escaped the robbers because it was wrapped in yellow paper, instead of the white paper usually reserved for diamonds.

The safe of the Greenstreet-Monty company was damaged, and the others were blown with dynamite. The safe experts carefully closed all cracks with tape to form a "cup" over a forced entry into which the nitroglycerin was poured. To muffle the explosion, a heavy rug was draped over the safe. The result was that not a pane of window or door glass was broken.

ACCUSED OF HOMICIDE FOR ILLEGAL OPERATION

Dr. Meade A. Button Named by Coroner's Jury and Ordered Held Under Bond.

Dr. Meade A. Button of 5581 Enright avenue today was ordered held under $10,000 bond on a charge of homicide by a Coroner's jury in connection with the death yesterday from an illegal operation of Mrs. Irene Siebum, 23 years old, of 4045 Blaine avenue. Mrs. Siebum died at 7:30 a. m. six and one-half hours after being taken to the hospital.

William Siebum, husband of Mrs.
Siebum, testified that he waited for his wife at the physician's office, 4266B Manchester avenue, Nov. 2, and that she told him on leaving that the operation had been performed. The next day his wife was seized with cramps, but Dr. Button would not visit her till Nov. 14.
Siebum declared. Two small children survive Mrs. Siebum.

Dr. Button, who is 40, declined to testify on advice of counsel, beyond saying he was graduated from the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1910. The State now is seeking to revoke the license of this college.

Woman Held in Connection With Death of Girl.

Arrest of Mrs. M. J. Merrifield, a midwife, of 6200 Ella avenue, Wellston, was directed today after a Coroner's jury ordered her held for homicide in connection with an illegal operation which caused the death yesterday of Miss Pearl Frances Krodinger, 17 years old, of 7289 Zephyr place, Maplewood.

Miss Krodinger, who was a telephone operator, died at 4:40 a. m.
at the residence of a sister, Mrs.
Lillian Carey, 2900 Palm street.
Mrs. Carey and two physicians who attended Miss Krodinger at the Carey home during the last week testified that Miss Krodinger told them she previously had undergone an illegal operation by Mrs. Merrifield.
Bond for Mrs. Merrifield was fixed at $10,000.

INFANTRY LOSSES HEAVIEST WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—More than 76 per cent of all army officers killed during the World War or who died of wounds, were infantrymen.

Revised statistics made public today at the War Department placed the total of officer fatalities at 2285, of which number 1756 were from infantry outfits.

MOTORIST ROBBED OF CAR
George Quest of 816 North Market street, gave a lift to two men who asked him for a ride on Lemay Ferry road near Telegraph road last night. After riding a short distance the men drew revolvers and made Quest and his companion, Miss Mattie Chapman, of 1711 South Third street, get out of the machine. They took $10 and a watch from Quest and drove away with his car.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN ELK HILLS OIL SUIT

Judge Decides He Cannot Stop Investigation by Interior Department.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—A move by the Standard Oil Co. of California to stop the Interior Department's investigation into the mineral character of certain of its Elk Hills (Cal.) land holdings was overruled today in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.
Chief Justice McCoy, in denying a preliminary injunction sought by the company, declared the Secretary of the Interior was authorized by law to press the inquiry, and that no court had a right to stop him.

The land, a part of the naval reserve, was turned over to the State of California for school purposes under the representation that it contained no minerals.
Subsequently it was acquired by the oil company. Title of the company was brought into question during the administration of Secretary Lane, and later hearings were conducted before Secretary Fall.

On the contention that title had been finally awarded the company without hearing of the Government's case, the Senate, on motion of Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana, instructed the Interior Department to bring action for recovery of the land.

Rough Sea Sinks 60-Foot Yacht.
By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 23.—
The yacht Mosquito, a 60-foot craft owned by D. B. Roberts of Hartford, Conn., sank in five feet of water in Frying Pan Shoals Saturday night and was broken up by choppy seas. The captain and his assistant were taken off by a crew from Cape Fear Lifeguard Station.

Says Headaches, Dizzy Spells and Sluggishness, All Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

If you did not know that these and other conditions such as sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, flushed face, pains in the head and chronic tired feeling are danger signals of high blood pressure it is time you heeded their warning.

Now that it is known high blood pressure brings on Bright's Disease, Apoplexy and often sudden death, folks should not neglect these symptoms, but should check them at once.

The POST-DISPATCH is the only St. Louis evening newspaper giving Associated Press news service.

NEW-ST. LOUIS THEATER OPENING

Only One Performance Tonight in Showhouse With 4080 Seats.

The new St. Louis Theater at Grand boulevard and Morgan street, the largest in the city, having 4080 seats, will be opened tonight at 8:30 o'clock and thereafter will run from 1 to 11 each day with continuous motion pictures and vaudeville.

There will be only one performance tonight, preceded by speeches by Mayor Miller and visiting theatrical men, including Marcus Helman, president of the Orpheum Circuit. The theater will present "Junior Orpheum" vaudeville and motion pictures.

The theater cost a sum just under $2,000,000 and was built by a St. Louis Corporation composed of David Sommers and the Koplar brothers, which has leased it for 10 years at a flat rental plus a share of profits.

The architectural feature of the construction is the lobby, which is a replica of the chapel in the palace of Versailles near Paris.

The admission scale is 35 cents for afternoon performances and 50 to 65 cents for evening, with no reservations for evening. Box seats are 45 cents.

$70,000 OF BANK LOOT FOUND

SIX MEMBERS OF GANG HELD Pennsylvania State Police Say That Pri-Owners Confess Taking Funds From Messenger.

By the Associated Press.
GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—Recovery of $70,000 of the $75,000 loot obtained by robbers in a hold-up of a messenger of the Vandergrift Savings & Trust Co. at Vandergrift, Nov. 4, and arrest of six alleged members of the gang, was announced by the State police last night. All have made confessions. It was said.

About $60,000 of the money was found hidden on a farm near the West Virginia border, the police said, and the remainder was recovered from those arrested. Joseph Maxximi, one of those held, is said to have admitted striking Lawrence H. Walther, the bank messenger, who suffered a fractured skull in the hold-up.

Worrying About the Fire!"

A fire loss of millions of dollars to American home owners occurs each year through overheated furnaces and boilers. Don't take chances. Install the Minneapolis Heat Regulator. The Minneapolis room thermostat regulates dampers, drafts or valves to maintain a uniform temperature day and night. Does its work automatically—and dependably, relieving you of personal attention to the fire.

A limiting safety thermostat placed in the boiler or warm air duct acts as an extra safety control. Automatically shuts down the fire before dangerous temperatures are reached. Operates independently. A super-safety installation. Real protection for your home.

SIX PERSONS DIE FROM INJURIES IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

William English, Latest Victim, Struck Today When Crossing Missouri Avenue at Pestalozzi Street.

Dead.
William English of 937 Withnell avenue, 937 Withnell avenue, who was hit by an automobile at 8 a. m. today as he started across Missouri avenue at Pestalozzi street. He died at city hospital two hours later without regaining consciousness, and was identified several hours later by his widow, Mrs. Verona English.

The machine which hit him was turning south into Missouri avenue. The driver, Charles Mudd of 1817 Crittenden street, was arrested.

The two children were hit by trucks as they darted across streets. One was injured Wednesday, the other Saturday afternoon. One man was killed when a fast train hit an automobile at a St. Louis County grade crossing. Another man was injured in Forest Park Friday by a driver who feloniously drove on without stopping to assist his victim. Another had been confined to a hospital bed for nine months with a fractured skull.

The Secret of Fine Laundering

is revealed by whiteness and the refreshingly clean odor of linens.

Clothes to be clean must have that delightful clean smell which comes from thorough washing in soft water, with pure soap, then sterilized and renovated with fresh air.

We filter the water to a degree of softness of rainwater—freeing it from all minerals; we use IVORY soap; change the water 8 times; sterilizing the clothes and then freshening with washed fresh air. No Laundry Marks. Each customer's clothes washed separately.

$98

$25 Cash—Balance $10 Monthly

This extraordinary event serves as a most unusual introduction to St. Louisans of the new Sets that are already enthusiastically accepted in the East. The new model "Wolper" RF5 tuned radio frequency Receivers—complete at $98—an amazing value indeed, when you consider that they are Sets of very high type—and the accessories offered with them of most excellent makes. This opportunity results from a special purchase—and the saving afforded is so remarkable that many St. Louis homes should share it. Purchase your Set Tuesday!

What You'll Want to Know About These Sets

The Wolper RF5 was designed for beauty and convenience, as well as efficiency. Its walnut finished cabinet is highly artistic, and there is space for batteries and accessories in the back, out of sight.

It was built by Radio Experts, working on newest, proven principles and with best facilities. It is built with the precision of a fine watch.

Select the Wolper RF5 with full confidence of satisfaction—it will bring you the best of radio entertainment.

Complete With All Equipment —Nothing Else to Buy

The high quality of these Accessories increases the value-giving of this event. They include five genuine Cunningham or RCA tested tubes; a large-size storage battery and two 45-volt B batteries—of well-known make. A complete aerial kit and ground equipment, with lightning arrester.

All Self-Contained in Cabinet

$5 Charge for Installation and Service.

The Wolper RF5 Is Very Easy to Operate

Absence of "fussing" with dials or "fishing" for stations makes operation a simple matter. Under favorable conditions any broadcasting station in the United States may be "logged" and you can immediately tune in on its program. And there is no squealing or crackling to mar clear reception.

An Ideal Christmas Gift, Economical to Buy

A gift that the whole family will enjoy—one that you may choose with entire confidence in its merits. Order by phone or by mail if you cannot come to the store.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Cremoium, an emulsified crocus that is pleasant to take. Cremoium is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocus is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Cremoium contains, in addition to crocus, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocus goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Cremoium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Cremoium Company, Atlanta, Ga.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, aches, coated tongue, head aches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of order, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for mineral salts—and find it to keep them fit, healthy and young.

FERGUSON-M'KINNEY ACCOUNTANT HERE

Leslie N. Simson of Firm That Accepted False Audit Confers With Sidener.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, who is prosecuting a grand jury investigation of the criminal phases of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co.'s failure, was in conference today with Leslie N. Simson, member of the New York accounting firm of Mitchell & Simson, whose audit, last February, failed to disclose the true condition of the Ferguson-McKinney company.

Simson came from New York to meet with Sidener. It is not known whether he will go before the grand jury.

Circuit Attorney Sidener has received word that another valuable witness is willing to give whatever information he has. He is J. R. Curlee, vice president of the Carleton Dry Goods Co., whose president, Murray Carleton, dominated the firm and, also, the Ferguson-McKinney Co. Curlee has been away from the city, in the North and East, since the present investigation began, but Sidener was notified by Curlee's son that the father will be available when wanted.

Curlee, according to Henry H. Evans, secretary of the Carleton firm, who conferred with Sidener last week, was closest to Carleton. When Carleton became ill, Curlee assumed the duties of liquidating the assets of the Carleton Dry Goods Co., which last June sold its merchandise stock and is quitting business.

Curlee is seriously ill at St. Luke's Hospital and has not been questioned by the authorities.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Matthew F. Griffin, former head of the Government Secret Service Bureau in this city, and known throughout the country for his work in running down counterfeiters, died yesterday. He was appointed to the service in 1888, and before coming here was stationed in New York, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Washington. He was President Cleveland's personal bodyguard, and was detailed to guard Baby Ruth Cleveland when whispers of a plot to abduct her for ransom were heard at the White House. Griffin, who was 71 years old, was convicted in September, 1924, with seven codefendants, of conspiracy to substitute water for $5,000,000 worth of whisky stored in Government warehouses, and sentenced to three months and 15 days' imprisonment.

The illness which resulted in his death was noticeable when he appeared at his trial. Federal Judge McKeehan, in passing sentence, said that he had taken into consideration Griffin's age, health, long service and previous good record.

People Said "Drunk"—But Man Was Sick

F. J. Pooler had "auto-intoxication" (food poisoning) so bad that he staggered and people said he was drunk. He had stomach trouble many years. After taking Adierka he says: "I feel like a new man. My eyes are bright and I do a better day's work."

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean, but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleaning with the mixture of buckthorn bark, senna, etc., as sold under the name of Adierka. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels, eliminates metallic poisons and restores old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food, let Adierka REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. ONE spoonful relieves GAS and takes away heartburn. Even if your bowels move every day, Adierka brings out much additional matter which might

RICHARD BRET HARTE BURIAL
Widow Wants Body to Lie Beside Grandfather, the Author.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Lillian Harte, who says she was married to Richard Bret Harte in New York six years ago, and was to have rejoined him in Paris in April, announced here today that she had cabled relatives abroad to have her husband's body buried beside his grandfather, the American author, Bret Harte, in Surrey, England, or, if that was impracticable, to have his body cremated and the ashes sent to California for burial.

Richard Bret Harte committed suicide in Paris several days ago after a quarrel with a woman.
$750 Loot in Tailor Shop Robbery.
Burglars in the tailor shop of David Sherman, 5653 Eastern avenue, last night carried away 40 suits of clothes and five bolts of cloth valued at $750. A rear door was forced.

REPORT FAVORS NEW SHIPPING CONTROL

Investigator Advises President Fleet Corporation Should Be Independent.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Complete separation of the Emergency Fleet Corporation from the Shipping Board is recommended by H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland, in his report to President Coolidge on the situation involving the two agencies.

The report, made public at the White House yesterday, suggests that the head of the Fleet Corporation be entrusted with the operation of the Government merchant fleet under a board of directors including the secretaries of war, navy, and commerce, the postmaster-general, and perhaps, three regional representatives from the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf States who would serve at the pleasure of the President. This would leave the shipping board as a semi-judicial, regulatory body without administrative powers.

The recommendations conform largely to those put forward by Secretary Hoover in an address last week before the Merchant Marine conference of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and are generally understood to be in line with deductions tentatively drawn by the administration on the shipping situation.

Indications have developed that a proposed "one-man control" of the Fleet Corporation would meet sharp opposition in Congress.

The co-operation of the war, navy, commerce and postoffice departments in the management of the fleet corporation, would be utilized, under Dalton's plan, in determining, among other things, the types of ships to be maintained on different routes. The commerce department would be consulted particularly about trade routes and the navy department's advice would be considered on questions concerning the naval reserve.

Dalton made it clear that he favored private operation of the merchant fleet and the scrapping of surplus ships that cannot be used on trade routes.

NEGRO HELD FOR WIFE MURDER MAY BE GIVEN SANITY HEARING
East St. Louis Minister Recently Attempted to End His Life in Jail at Belleville.

The Rev. John Smith, East St. Louis negro minister, held for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Carrie

Smith, May 28 last, probably will be given a hearing to determine whether he is sane. He recently attempted to end his life in his cell at the St. Clair County Jail by hanging himself with a strip of cloth from his cot.
Three other murder cases are set for trial in the St. Clair County Circuit Court during the week of Dec. 7. The trials are those of Jesse Cochran, held for the killing of Louis Paski; James Underwood, for the murder of Dan Hanefan; and Will Clay, for the killing of Josie Wilson. All of the murders were committed in East St. Louis.

ILLINOIS YOUTHS TO MEET
About 1200 Will Gather at Urbana This Week-End.
URBANA, Ill., Nov. 23.—Approximately 1200 boys from all sections of Illinois will gather at the University of Illinois this week-end to attend a three-day session of the twelfth annual Illinois Older Boys' Conference under the auspices of the State association of the Y. M. C. A. of Illinois.
The first general meeting will be held Friday afternoon. Conference sessions, entertainment and recreation have been arranged for the annual meeting. Among those on the program are George Huff, director of physical education at Ill.

nois; E. C. Wolcott, Kansas City; G. O. Pierrell, Chicago, and C. G. Moser, Evanston.

Gold Medals for Tea Quality awarded Lipton's!

Ceylon and India are the tea centers of the world. All that is known about tea, its fragrance, its delicacy, its quality, is known there.

It is the custom periodically to hold in Colombo and Calcutta exhibitions at which tea growers submit their finest leaf yields and blends.

Experts at both expositions have awarded the Gold Medals and first prizes to teas grown by Sir Thomas J. Lipton, the world's foremost tea merchant.

Thus, at the source of tea growth, Lipton's Teas have been pronounced the finest produced in the world.

Can there be any doubt as to the tea to buy to get the most delicious cup of tea ever lifted to eager lips?

A murder committed more than five years ago is explained in the confession of William Riley Jacobs, a former convict, held at Souldard street station. In a statement to Police Captain Kirk and reporters, Jacobs said today he saw Jacob Krause, 64 years old, a haberdasher, beaten to death in his store at 600 Chouteau avenue the morning of Sept. 27, 1920, and named Henry Plouder, 37, as the slayer.

Plouder was arrested in a house at 2128 South Third street, on information supplied by Jacobs, but entered a positive denial of the charges. Warrants charging first-degree murder were issued by the Circuit Attorney this afternoon, against both men, and the case will be submitted to the grand jury. Jacobs, who was arrested at Second and Trudeau streets, yesterday, had been sought by Capt. Kirk since the killing because of a similarity between the murder of Krause and a crime for which Jacobs was convicted in 1914. Krause was found dead in his store with his skull crushed by a 14-inch iron bolt wrapped in a newspaper, which was found on the floor. The cash register had been rifled and there were few clues, except the recollection of Capt. Kirk that in April 14, 1914, Jacobs was sentenced to five years for assaulting a storekeeper with a hatchet during a robbery at 1123 South Fourth street.

EVERYBODY fears YOUR COUGH
—and so should you, for it is often infectious and dangerous to those around you.
A safe and agreeable way to relieve coughs is to take PERTUSSIN, which has been used for twenty years in the successful treatment of all types of harsh or painful coughs—even the most severe. PERTUSSIN is entirely free from "dope" or harmful drugs, yet it brings quick relief by helping Nature to expel the sticky phlegm that often clogs the air passages. ## U. S. CRUISER SAILS 72,000 MILES WITHOUT BREAKDOWN

Navy Department Comments on Trenton's Record; Regularly Used Two Planes in Service.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The 10,000-ton light cruiser Trenton which was commissioned in 1924, has just completed 72,000 miles of cruising without a major breakdown.

Describing the accomplishment as an enviable record, the Navy Department, in a statement today pointed out that the distance was equivalent to almost three round-the-world cruises. Her trips have taken her from the Arctic to Australia and from Persia to Hawaii and she is now at the Philadelphia navy yard being fitted out as the flagship of the light cruiser force of the scouting fleet.

Throughout the cruise in all parts of the world the Trenton regularly used the two airplanes with which she and other light cruisers are fitted. It was a daily routine to catapult planes and receive them after their work in the air was done.

Capt. E. C. Kalbfus has commanded the cruiser since she was commissioned.

M'CUTCHEAN AND 30 OTHERS ON TRIAL IN LADUE BANK CASE

Embezzlement Case Called at War-rensburg on Charge of Venue From Henry County.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Mo., Nov. 22.—E. E.
Weeks, S. C. Goff, Ralph E. Falge and J. B. McCutchan went on trial at Warrensburg today on a charge of venue from Henry County. They were officers of the Bank of Ladue, charged in 10 indictments with embezzlement and with receiving deposits while knowing the bank was in a failing condition.

The embezzlement case which came up today refers to a check for $3500 on the Bank of Ladue, signed by McCutchan, a St. Louisan, and payable to the Canton Trust Co. of Canton. When the Ladue bank was taken over by McCutchan, Weeks, Goff and Falge, the former cashier, H. B.
Hollister, was retained to assist the new cashier, Weeks.

When the check was presented for payment, Hollister refused to honor it. McCutchan having no funds in the bank, Hollister was dismissed and Weeks cashed the check. The check is still in the papers of the defunct bank, with Hollister's "no funds" written on it.

SALOONMAN ROBBED OF $800

The theft of $800 yesterday from a box in the living quarters of Steve Stankiewicz, saloonkeeper, at 1818 North Ninth street, who lives across a hall at 1820 North Ninth street, is under investigation by police.

The money was used to cash checks of customers. Mrs. Stan-kiewicz took out some of the money to cash a check at 7 p. m.
and went back at 8 p. m. to discover the money stolen. The box was on a table in a bedroom when the money was taken. Silver amounting to $100 in the box was not taken.

LAI D UP BY NEURITIS AND RHEUMATISM

Is quickly put on his feet
by simple home treatment

Many people who have suffered for years from the crippling pain of rheumatism or neuritis report that they have got amazing relief from a very simple home treatment.

"I could not walk for two weeks," writes a man from Moncton, N. B., Canada. "I had to be carried around like a baby. But one bottle of Sloan's Liniment put me on my feet again."

Just a little Sloan's rubbed on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through the pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! It's the medicine itself that does the work.

Soon the swelling and inflammation go down. The aching stops. Almost suddenly you find yourself really free from pain, really comfortable at last.
Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

A New Charge Service

—This Store's Latest Innovation Toward Furthering Its Helpfulness to Responsible Men and Young Men

St. Louis' Dominant Store for Men exists for the purpose of serving responsible men and young men in the manner in which they wish to be served! A vast number of them have, for some time, chosen to purchase automobiles, homes, furniture, radios—even investment securities on deferred payments. And now, "Society Brand" and other fine clothes are offered them on a more convenient basis.

There Is No Interest or Carrying Charge for This Service!

Cash, Regular Charge, and Budget Plan prices are identical. It is simply a new and convenient charge service which has been instituted in recognition of the public's preferred buying habits. A radical departure, to be sure, from the old established methods of selling better clothes, but one which has been adopted with no uncertain enthusiasm.

—And as always, here are unusually comprehensive assortments—the most complete in St. Louis—and St. Louis best values!

SHARP REDUCTION IN CHURCH WINE PERMITS PLANNED

Treasury Has Reached Agreement With Jewish Leaders in Effort to Stop Illicit Trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Another relic of pre-prohibition days has been marked for a swift end by Treasury officials.

Several hundred thousand wine-making permits, which have existed since the years before the Volstead Act, have come under the searchlight of the new prohibition regime and will be revoked under a regulation to be promulgated, probably within the next day or two. The permits as issued allow a maximum annual production by the holder, tax free, of 200 gallons. They are held largely in the foreign quarters of the large cities and are suspected of contributing heavily to the illicit supply.

Leads of sacramental wine into illicit channels also are to be plugged up. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews has reached an agreement with Jewish leaders, whose congregations are the largest users of sacramental wine, for new regulations, expected to be issued this week, sharply reducing the amount of wine now permitted to be withdrawn for religious purposes.

Jewish leaders are said to have given every co-operation to Treasury officials in their efforts to shut off diversion of sacramental wine to illicit uses.

Andrews has given his enforcement corps instructions carrying forward his idea that prosecution of pocket flask toters should be left to the State and local authorities. In a letter of instructions to the administrators, which was not made public, here, he is understood to have informed them that there appeared to be no necessity for wholesale inspection of motor cars and small boats on inland streams, and warned that they should not be stopped except with "legal probable cause."

Calling attention to provisions of the law that permit seizure and seizure of vehicles used in transportation, the letter added that Chief Justice Taft had said in a decision of the Supreme Court that "the officer must have reasonable, trustworthy information" about the use of the vehicle. Andrews, a few months ago, ordered an agent in Louisiana dismissed after it was found he had arrested a woman tourist carrying a half pint of cordial and had compelled her to drive 185 miles from the point of arrest to New Orleans.

According to Wayne Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, there are 40,000 to 50,000 wine permits in California alone.

DISABLED YACHT TOWED IN

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 22.—After rolling helplessly about in the Atlantic for more than 26 hours, 35 miles off Cape Charles, with both propellers gone, the 127-foot yacht Sebago, owned by A. C. Burton of Houston, Tex., was towed to port yesterday, with the 19 men aboard. Burton, who is navigating the craft himself, aided by Capt. J. W. Munn of the Gulf Fisheries, Inc., Galveston, purchased the yacht last week in New York and was taking it to Houston with a party of friends as his guest.

The International Mercantile Marine Co.'s steamer Seythian of Liverpool sighted the yacht about noon Saturday and brought it within the Cape, where it was turned over to the Coast Guard cutter Mascoutin.

SENATOR REED IN APPEAL FOR ONE WATERWAYS PLAN

Suggests That Mississippi Valley Association Retain Competent Engineer for Work.

WOULD INCLUDE ALL OF COUNTRY'S NEEDS

He Also Advises Appeal to Coolidge—Urges Hearers to Back $204,000,000 Porter Bill.

Creation of a concrete plan for internal development by the Government of its great rivers, and steps for compelling Congress and President Coolidge to accept that plan, were forcibly suggested and outlined in detail, in an address by United States Senator Reed before 700 delegates in attendance at the opening session of the Mississippi Valley Association, at Hotel Staller today.

In what was described as the keynote address of the convention, the Missouri Senator, who was introduced by President James E. Smith as long an advocate in and out of Congress of inland waterways, declared that the period of education as to river needs is past. The time for governmental action here, specifically, he urged that the body must for a drive to put over at the next Congress the Porter bill to provide a bona fide $204,000,000 for river development.

"The people and the Government are educated to the policy of river improvement," said Reed. "And the final demonstration has come in the practical success of the Mississippi River navigation under Government operation."

No Longer a Question. "It is no longer a question in the minds of thoughtful men whether or not river transportation is an absolute necessity. The country is growing. In 15 years there has been added no substantial mileage of railroad; railroad building has practically come to an end. And we are approaching the time that men must realize that if the country is to develop there must be enlarged transportation."

As a "for-opener," not destructive instrumentally, Senator Reed pointed out that the railroads now have "all the business they can handle," to which has been added a new transportation, local in character, the automobile. "As a 'for-opener,' not destructive instrumentally," he continued, "we must consider a new and in the broadest aspect the problems of river transportation. I need not point out what the Panama Canal is doing, having shortened the distance from coast to coast by many thousands of miles. Something must be done to bring the Panama Canal to the Upper Mississippi Valley."

"Whenever a natural advantage or power is taken possession of and utilized, it makes for the development of the country as a whole. We helped to build the Panama Canal, and every logic and argument of that project is applicable to river development."

Assails "Idiotic" Plan. "The Government adopted the policy of giving aid on our rivers only for navigation, and our friends of the railroads saw to it that it was not practical. Then we adopted the policy of lending aid for river development only a strategic place—an idiotic plan."

"Any way, we have arrived at a point where we must meet the problem on an entirely different basis. We have a growing population, demanding luxuries and necessities—our grandfathers never dreamed of. The public domain has been occupied. What is left for the Government to do? Two things: First, it must put water on the arid plains of the West, and second, it must take the surplus water off the valleys."

"Engineers, it may be explained, have been a unit that if an adequate system of water control be put into effect, embracing entire watersheds, the water in the upper reaches may be conserved for irrigation purposes, at the same time, controlling floods and overflows in the valley areas."

"In accomplishing this, also," he continued, "we will transform these rivers to become the great highways of commerce. We have been spending a few million dollars a year and wasting it because of spending it so wisely. The interest rate on the principal."

Comprehensive Plan. Senator Reed then came to the heart of his suggestion. "The body," he declared, "ought to raise the money to employ the greatest engineer available to lay out a complete, comprehensive plan of river development."

Continuing, he said that the Government engineers, possessed of the most able talent, yet were handicapped by regulation from

MORE DRUNKEN AUTOISTS AND CHILDREN THAN EVER, MODERATIONISTS CHARGE

Arrests for Intoxication in U. S. Now at Prohibition Level—Wise Restriction Preferred to Bone-Dry Law.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A survey of drunkenness in the United States has been completed by the Moderation League, Inc., and the results are published today as follows:

"Drunkenness has already increased to the pre-prohibition level and drunken drivers and drunken children have increased far above anything ever before known in this country. We cannot escape the conclusion that the Volstead act has utterly failed to do what it was intended to—promote temperance and sobriety."

"Moreover," the league continues in its conclusions, "since conditions become worse, not better, each year, and with the next generation drinking as never before, there seems to be no hope that the Volstead act in its present drastic form will accomplish its purpose in the long run."

"From the experience, before national prohibition, of the states which had restrictive laws, and from the experience of the whole country during the years 1919 and 1920, and from the experience of the Canadian provinces, we believe adequately meeting the situation. 'They are not free moral agents,' he said. 'They get instructions from Congress as to how much they can spend and must make their plans so to conform.'

"You should survey the whole situation and bring in a plan, not the size of the soul of Congress, but as big as the whole United States. It should be completed in 1926, and the experience of the Mississippi, the Ohio, the Missouri and the other streams that flow to the main arteries."

"Here is how to do it: Congress is case-hardened and ossified in some respects. Delegations can accomplish little unless they stay on the job.

Appeal to Self-Interest. "But there is a more practical plan. Every Congressman is moved by self-interest. That you get the approval of the local sentiment in every congressional district. See to it, persistently, firmly and everlastingly, that your Congressman is made to understand that if he does not carry this message to Coolidge, he will lose his seat."

"There is another way. Maybe, you can call out Coolidge. The President of the United States and every President for 20 years has been opposed to river improvements. That is, they have been opposed to making appropriations which are adequate; they sought to keep down appropriations generally."

SMITH OUTLINES PLAN TO FINANCE WORK ON RIVERS

President of Mississippi Valley Association Proposes Demand on Congress for $200,000,000.

"TOO MUCH WASTE IN SMALLER SUMS"

Describes Expenditure of $87,000,000 on Ohio Improvement in 50 Years and Other Projects

The basis of the demand to be made upon the coming Congress that it provide $200,000,000 or more for the completion within five years of the nation's trunk inland waterways, composed of the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Illinois rivers, was given to the Mississippi Valley Association this afternoon by its president, James E. Smith of St. Louis, who for the last 20 years has led the fight for recognition of the economy of shipping by water. Smith believes that this fight, which for years he carried almost single-handed, and which now has active, insistent support in 26 states, will be successful.

"We have been begging for years," Smith said, "for the cheap abundant transportation afforded by our rivers, and the time has come for us to demand our rights so long denied us. 'The need for cheap transportation, especially for the farmers of the Mississippi Valley, has become the vital, dominant issue now confronting the population of this, the most productive, area of our country and of the world. The use of their natural channels of trade is the only possible solution of this serious problem.'

Agriculture Basic Industry. "Agriculture is the basic industry of the United States, and especially of the Mississippi Valley. It therefore follows, as the night the day, that unless our farmers can be placed in a position to meet the competition of other agricultural countries, and thus assure their prosperity, our country at large cannot be prosperous. Many suggestions have been made in Congress for affording relief to our farmers, and most of them have been foolish and entirely impracticable and even those that had some merit would have afforded only temporary relief."

"Our farmers of the Mississippi Valley are not merchants. All they ask is such practical and permanent relief as will assist them in helping themselves, and, given the cheap transportation that God and nature has largely prepared for their use and benefit, their future prosperity will be assured."

The time has arrived when the useless discussion of this important question must cease, and a practical program for action adopted. We must now demand the earliest completion of our natural channels of transportation and call a halt upon the wasteful, extravagant and resultless methods which have been followed in the past in the handling of our waterway problems."

Ohio River Work Cited. "Take the Ohio River as an example. Work was begun on this great project in 1875, 50 years ago, and it is even now only three-fourths completed. Since 1875, the enormous sum of $87,000,000 has been expended on the improvement of that river. A large proportion of this money has been wasted because of the resultless methods employed in carrying on the work. 'Had this work, which was begun in 1875, been carried on by following the same method that was employed in the Panama Canal, the work could have been completed in from 10 to 12 years, and at a cost of at least one-half the amount which has been expended. 'Think of the tremendous loss to the people of the Ohio Valley, and to the country, that has resulted from this foolish and inexcusable procedure. The loss in interest, alone, upon that great investment of idle and unproductive capital, has been tied up in the Ohio River project has been more than paid the entire cost of the completed project."

Missouri River Unfinished. "The disgraceful methods employed in the improvement of the Missouri River. Congress passed a bill in 1910, in which there was a provision providing for the completion of an eight-foot channel in the Mississippi River between Cairo and St. Louis at an estimated cost of $10,000,000. The declared intention of completing the work within 12 years. The designated time for its completion elapsed three years ago. 'Instead of spending $10,000,000 as Congress had agreed to do, only $1,900,000 was expended. As a result of this negligence, the Government Barge Line now operating on should be completed at the same

Countess Karolyi Tells Through the Press Her Story of Hungary's Political Life

First Installment Details the Refusal of Washington to Permit Her to Return to America and Resume Her Lecture Tour.

As "an undesirable person" under the terms of the United States immigration laws, Countess Catherine Karolyi has been refused by the State Department permission to enter the United States, where she was to have delivered several lectures. The countess, wife of the first president of the Hungarian Republic, has written six articles which give, in outline, the political events which she wished to tell of in her lectures. This is the first of the series and the others will appear daily in the Post-Dispatch.

By COUNTESS CATHERINE KAROLYI.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—In the spring of this year I sat on the steamer Montclair which was to take me away from the shores of America to England. I felt joy that I was returning to my children from whom I had been separated for six long and eventful months, but at the same time I was filled with sorrow in leaving the country whose people so endeared themselves to me. And I lived through again all of the events of those months spent in the New World. America seemed to me in a way my second cradle, where I had been reborn, spiritually and physically: spiritually by finding sympathy and friends whose hospitality and kindness made me forget the six bitter years of exile and persecution; physically, as I had been rescued by the diligent care of the nurse staff of the Postgraduate Hospital, and by the skillful hands of Drs. Spaulding and Erdmann, who had literally saved my life.

I owed much to America. Its youthful spirit, courage and vigor was a real revelation to me, and I drew from it new hope and strength to live up to the ideals for which I am called upon to suffer so much.

Not for a moment did I dream that after these experiences those gates which are guarded by the Statue of Liberty would be ruthlessly closed to me.

My action before I left the United States was to call upon Secretary Kellogg at the State Department. My object was not to intervene in the matter of lifting the gag which had been placed upon my husband, as we had our tickets and were booked to leave the United States on the same night. But I felt that, as the State Department seemed to have been misled by reports emanating from Hungarian officials as part of their propaganda, I ought to inform the department of my version of the events, to which I had taken exception, and thus disperse the existing misapprehensions.

Unfortunately, Mr. Kellogg could not see me, and I was interviewed by William B. Castle, chief of the European section of the State Department. Did Not Speak for Husband. To make him realize how conscientiously my husband had kept his lips sealed, I ought to inform the department of my version of the events, to which I had taken exception, and thus disperse the existing misapprehensions.

Her Request for Visa Denied. I asked for my visa on Oct. 15 of this year at the American Consulate in Paris, and was amazed to hear that they had been informed from Washington that they must await instructions before granting my request. I could only believe the lower Mississippi between St. Louis and New Orleans is operating on this portion of the river at a loss because of its not having a dependable channel at all times upon which to carry on its operations. "Again that same session of Congress, in the bill to which I have referred, provided for the completion of a five-foot channel in the upper Mississippi River from St. Louis to Minneapolis and as to the lower Mississippi, the work to be completed within a period of 12 years. That time expired three years ago. Of the $27,000,000 promised, only $12,500,000 was expended, and the work on that project is less than one-half completed. The money spent upon that important project is also idle and unproductive. The river remains practically useless except for very light draft boats."

Missouri River Channel. In 1912, Congress passed a bill providing for the construction of a six-foot channel in the Missouri River from its mouth to Kansas City, at an estimated cost of $20,000,000, with the declared intention of completing the work within 16 years. The plan was to a number of inland cities in this central-northern section of the country, a water transportation route to all sections of the United

SAYS 40,000,000 PERSONS DEMAND RIVER SERVICE

Minnesota Governor Declares Inland States Won't Submit Much Longer to Isolation.

"THEY SUPPLY BULK OF NATION'S GRAIN"

Speaker Cites Fact That American Farmer Pays More to Move Freight Than Canadian.

The millions of people in inland states, who raise 75 per cent of the nation's wheat and 65 per cent of its corn, will not much longer submit to the handicap of being economically isolated, Gov. Theodore C. W. Lawrence of Minnesota, said at the meeting here of the Mississippi Valley Association, this afternoon.

Although not favoring any particular water course, the governor said the inland states, to grow industrially, must be linked with the seaports of the eastern coast. He cited the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence channel as a means of opening up the inland territory for waterways.

"There never was a time in the history of the world when 40,000,000 persons could be kept permanently from the seaboard and the men and women who occupy a territory 10 times as large as France and who raise not only the bulk of grain but produce 85 per cent of nation's iron, will not submit to this economic handicap which results from lack of water transportation."

"Agriculture, which for some years has been suffering distress from which it is now only partly emerging, would be greatly benefited by a waterway. One of the contributing factors to agricultural depression has been excessive transportation costs. The plight of the American farmer has been aggravated by the fact that he has had to pay higher freight rates than his Canadian competitor."

"The completion of the inland waterways would justify itself in two ways, first, by eliminating the loss resulting from the present railroad congestion, and second, by providing a means of transportation which is always cheaper than transportation by railroads."

KAROLYI PLEA TO COOLIDGE. Attorneys for Countess Ask President to Remove Stigma. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The case of Countess Karolyi, who was excluded from this country by the State Department, has been placed before President Coolidge by the law firm of Curtis, Fodick & Belknap, representing the wife of the former president of Hungary.

In a letter dated Wednesday, made public last night, the President is asked to "remove the stigma of bureaucracy" in the case and challenged to take action which will place his administration in harmony with the "high ideals" and precepts of democratic government he has laid down in campaign utterances and in speeches since his election.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The appeal of counsel for Countess Karolyi asking a review by the President of the State Department's action in barring her from entry into the United States was referred today by the White House to Secretary of State Kellogg.

"This bill should provide for the adoption of a fixed, definite policy that will pledge the Government to take up this work at once on all of those trunk line waterways and push it through as quickly as possible. It should also provide that this entire work be done on a continuing contract plan, and that every project shall be completed within five years. By taking up this work in the manner suggested, $40,000,000 can be saved in construction cost and employment can be given to thousands of our citizens."

"This bill should also provide that this work should be placed under the direction of a board of practical and capable engineers, similar to the Panama Canal Board, and that the work shall be carried on continuously and by the same methods that were employed in the building of the Panama Canal. The completion of these trunk line waterways routes will cost not more than one-fourth of the cost of the building of the Panama Canal. When put into use they will save dollars where dollars have been saved by the use of the isthmian Canal."

Keep the Buses, But With Pneumatic Tires.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
With reference to the People's Motor Bus Co. we don't want to take the company off the street, as we need them very badly. I have lived and own the property at 5153 Delmar boulevard for the last six years, and I want to say that the bus company, with their large double-deck buses, with solid rubber tires, have ruined my house. Previous to their arrival I had no trouble with falling or cracked walls, but in the last year have paid more than $100 for repairing ceilings. Mr. Meade, president of the company, says it is the heavy trucks that do the damage, and not the buses, but I want to say it is not the heavy trucks, and I do want to say that it is the solid tire double-deck bus that has ruined houses on Delmar boulevard. I also want to say that I have had my house and sit at my front window while one of his buses goes by. The passing of same will make him think the house is about to fall on him; there is a terrible vibration, the house shakes from foundation to roof; it is like an earthquake.

Now we want Mr. Meade's buses, and we want him and his business to prosper, but if he can't operate double-deck buses with pneumatic tires, compel him to take the double deck bus off of the street and use exclusively the single deck, as all single deck buses use pneumatic tires.

Mr. Meade says pneumatic tires will break the company. How is it all the companies operating in the big cities of the East are using pneumatic tires and making money?

We are all watching Mr. Wimer's bill and we hope the Board of Aldermen will pass it, and gain the everlasting gratitude of the property owners and taxpayers.

Trees for Streets and Highways.

ANSWERING E. E. K. in Letters to the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
From the People I wish to state that I appreciate the spirit in which it is written; however, it appears to me that the writer has no conception of the principles of plant growth, nor the requirements of fruit or nut trees. In the first place the space remaining between the sidewalk and the roadway is paved, curbing and sidewalk is laid, so is limited that it cannot be cultivated and fertilized as required for such trees. It is a difficult matter to establish the ranker growing shade trees on our city streets now. The question I should like would guard the fruit? and what kind of trees would be the purpose? Who would guard the fruit? and what kind of nut tree would serve?

The idea is fine but not practicable.

The 138th Infantry.

IN REGARD to a letter which recently appeared over my signature in your columns pertaining to the 138th Infantry, I wish to state that, owing to an ambiguity which might be placed upon my remarks therein, I had absolutely no intention of causing any offense to the present officers of the regiment.

What I had in mind when writing of "half-baked officers" was merely a generalization on conditions which have existed in the regiment from time to time. Quite a number of the officers of the present regiment have very enviable service records and are competent, efficient, to the best of my knowledge. I trust that the officer personnel will understand that I have not been in very close touch with National Guard affairs in St. Louis for the past four years and am acquainted with comparatively few of the present officers. It would therefore be presumptuous of me to state an opinion as to their qualifications or reflect upon their ability, and such was farthest from my intention.

My letter was prompted only by my interest in the 138th Infantry and my hope of seeing the old regiment re-perpetuated.

The Sawdust Trail.

TO THE EDITOR of the Post-Dispatch:
WITH the passing of the Williams evangelistic campaign, it is to be hoped that the discourteous, undignified, vulgar and disgusting expression "hitting the trail" is ended and will never again be used. Not one account of these meetings that I read, but was marred by its use, a morning paper using this expression four times in reporting the closing services. There is nothing witty or funny about its use, as some reporters evidently seem to think, and it is an insult both to the man engaged in the most exalted work on earth—turning people to their Savior—and to the one who does the most noble and sublime thing in a lifetime—publicly confessing Christ before men either for the first time, or perhaps some poor wanderer returning to Him.

ALLEN DWIGHT POMEROY.

THE FEDERAL TAX HARVEST.

Taxes on personal income for 1924 have yielded the Government a greater revenue by $25,432,680 than did similar taxes for 1923. This result was revealed in figures prepared by the Internal Revenue Bureau and published in the Sunday papers.

It is an astounding result. If it is gratifying in that it exceeds all expectations and forecasts it is also bewildering. It has scrambled the estimates and calculations of the Treasury Department. It leaves Mr. Mellon's expert accountants flat on their backs, and the astute Secretary himself out on a limb.

For no such bumper yield was in the books. When the present revenue act was being prepared, which reduced the rates on small incomes, in defiance of the "Mellon plan," doleful consequences were predicted. Prosperity's pinions were going to droop and industry slow down unless the taxes on wealth were lightened. But Congress, with the radical element known as the La Follette bloc holding the balance of power, proceeded to write a revenue law of its own, and, instead of disaster, a harvest of abundance has followed.

This is the outstanding fact of the Internal Revenue Bureau's statistical analysis of taxation conditions under the present law as compared with the preceding law. The comparison discloses a number of interesting developments. It shows there were three incomes of $5,000,000 or more last year as in 1923, and that in the million-dollar class the number—74—was the same in both years. It shows a substantial increase in the number of incomes below a million and above $50,000. It places the people's aggregate net income at 25 billions. The average income is fixed at $3,428.55. It paints a land of such plenty as was never before known. But the staggering fact is that increase in revenue notwithstanding the decrease of nearly 400,000 in the number of returns.

In the light of that fact it is clear that the Treasury Department's prestige as a counselor of revenue legislation is shattered. The revelation coming at this time, as the draft of a new revenue measure is nearing completion, has stirred Washington. The new revenue measure, it is reported, will provide for a searching investigation of the entire system of administering Federal taxes by a committee to be appointed by the President, which will file its report Jan. 1, 1927. Meantime the special Senate committee to investigate the Internal Revenue Bureau has finished its labors. Its report is now being written by the chairman, Senator Coughens, who will propose a number of changes for adoption at the coming session.

TWO GERMANS.

General Ludendorff's attack on President von Hindenburg brings once more into contrast these two old Germans who fought side by side for Kaiser Bill and then were obliged to look into the ugly face of defeat. And this is how they differed:

Ludendorff, the brilliant, deserted his armies in the field and almost equaled his Imperial Master in the speed with which he fled the country. For a while he brooded in Sweden, and then, when certain that the communists would not declare a field day for Junkers, returned as a conspirator against the new Republic. He became the guiding genius of a monarchist coup, which was no coup at all, but fizzled laughably. He was the ridiculous hero of the noted "beer hall putsch."

Hindenburg, patriot and great soldier, stuck to his retreating guns. He saw his beaten armies safely home and stayed manfully by the bitter task of post-war reorganization. Then, without seeking to capitalize his great popularity with the masses, he returned to his simple home in Hanover, prepared to be a peaceable and useful citizen of the new order. He did not plot, he did not growl; many critics think that had he said the word he might have overthrown the struggling Ebert government and made himself a dictator. But he waited until the German people called him to duty again, and wisely accepted election as President by more than a million majority.

Since that time, as Isaac Marcossion in a current issue of the Saturday Evening Post points out, he has accepted republican Germany with noble grace and is doing his best to serve. While Ludendorff, the monarchist raller, calls him "a menace to nationalism."

THE KENTUCKY FEUD IS NO MORE.

Hyden, a tiny hamlet in the backwoods of Leslie County, is the scene of the latest outbreak of private Kentucky warfare. A man was killed in an election fight and his slayer pliantly barricaded himself in the Citizens' Bank, where he fought off the dead man's avengers. In recognition of the inflammable possibilities of such affairs, the State lost no time in sending troops to the scene. Gov. Fields, himself a man from the hills, went to Hyden on horseback to add his influence for peace. Hyden's bid for national fame apparently is short-lived.

The feud as a Kentucky institution is no more, despite such sudden flareups as this and the more spectacular shooting feat at Clayhole, Breathitt County, four or five years ago. Twenty miles east of Hyden is Hazard, where the Frenches and the Eversoles once engaged in protracted war. Nearby are Clay and Breathitt counties, the scenes of celebrated feuds, where the Hargis, Callahan, Howard and other clans used to shoot quickly and unerringly. To the north is Rowan County, where the Martins and the Tollivers fought each other to the death.

While homicide is still a common phenomenon in the backwoods and mountains of Kentucky, the long-drawn-out feud disappeared just about the time that big business and big capital entered the Kentucky mountains to exploit the immensely rich beds of coal which underlie the thin soil. The coal industry is dependent upon civil tranquility. Henry Ford's mines in Harlan County, the Steel Corporation's vast holdings in Letcher, must be worked, and interruptions to pursue the ancient pastime of feuds are looked upon sourly.

Thus, a condition which the law officers of the State for generations were either powerless or unwilling to prevent and control has been largely abated by the influence of the furnurers who are interested in coal mining. The interlopers, who are interested in their own coal operations, have built towns, provided good schools, elected Mayors and Sheriffs, and have generally exerted themselves in behalf of peace among the clans.

Some day a comprehensive history will be written of big business' influence on the habits and philosophy of mankind, and then the mountains of Kentucky will furnish a good laboratory for research.

FRANCE'S FINANCIAL CRISIS.

Two ministries have fallen in France since Caillaux attempted but failed to obtain a settlement of France's war debt to us. And France confronts a crisis pregnant with disastrous possibilities.

We do not say that France's present dangerous condition is due to the failure of the debt settlement, but we do say that that failure, which was caused by our demanding more than the French Cabinet thought France was able to pay, has greatly contributed to the present situation.

If French finances should collapse, it would cost us far more than the acceptance of France's offer for the settlement of the debt would have cost us. The consequences would be inestimably disastrous.

The policy of pushing debtors to the wall has never paid. Our settlement with Italy is a sounder basis of debt collection under present conditions than any that we have offered in all our negotiations with debtor nations. We ought to rectify our attitude as soon as possible.

ATCHISON'S OWN VERSION.

Editorials and cartoons in a number of newspapers have stressed the fact that Atchison had eight arrests for drunkenness in 1920 and 246 arrests for the same offense this year. The figures stand as rather startling evidence of the futility of prohibition, but figures may well be the basis of a false conclusion. Atchison is in Kansas, which has been prohibition territory for many years. The truth is that it was far from arid under State prohibition. Indeed, because public sentiment offered no strenuous objection, and State authorities were indifferent, Atchison had open saloons during many prohibition years, and until Walter Rescoe Stubbs became Governor, some 13 years ago, and closed them.

Therefore, national prohibition didn't come as much of a change to Atchison. There was drunkenness before national prohibition, and after. In an editorial on the recent police statistics and their reception by the press, the Atchison Globe, which has opposed prohibition on many occasions, and which has a long reputation for reliability, says:

As a matter of fact, the amount of drinking does not seem to have increased or decreased very much. We have the same old offenders, and if police court records show the alarming increase noted, it is because the police of today are more vigilant than those of 1920.

Even so, the record may stand as an indictment of prohibition. A vigilant police force, operating under the eye of an alert city manager, might well do better than the political police power of a councilmanic government that prevailed there five years ago. But no one pretends any police force would arrest all intoxicated persons, particularly at a time when so much of the drinking is done in homes. The arrests probably account for those who took to the streets, disturbed the peace and made spectacles of themselves. The number is imposing for a city of 15,000. It is further evidence that the prohibition laws aren't enforced; that liquor is easily available, even in a city that boasts of the vigilance of its present police force.

A PACIFIST-MILITARY ROW.

A pretty row is in progress between pacifists attending the College of the City of New York and Col. Moss, co-author of the Manual of Military Training. The pacifists are shocked by the instructions regarding hand-to-hand fighting, including eye-gouging, neck-breaking, butting, shin-kicking and other amenities of close warfare. This is one of the passages which shocked the pacifists:

Bayonet fighting is possible only because red-blooded men naturally possess the fighting instinct. This inherent desire to fight and kill must be carefully watched for and encouraged by the instructor.

This and other bits are being used as arguments in a fight to abolish military training at the City College. In the meantime, Col. Moss says that war is no ring-around-the-rosy, that hand-to-hand combat is part of military warfare, just as are gunnery and strategy, and that many an American soldier owes his life to a knowledge of how to care for himself at close quarters.

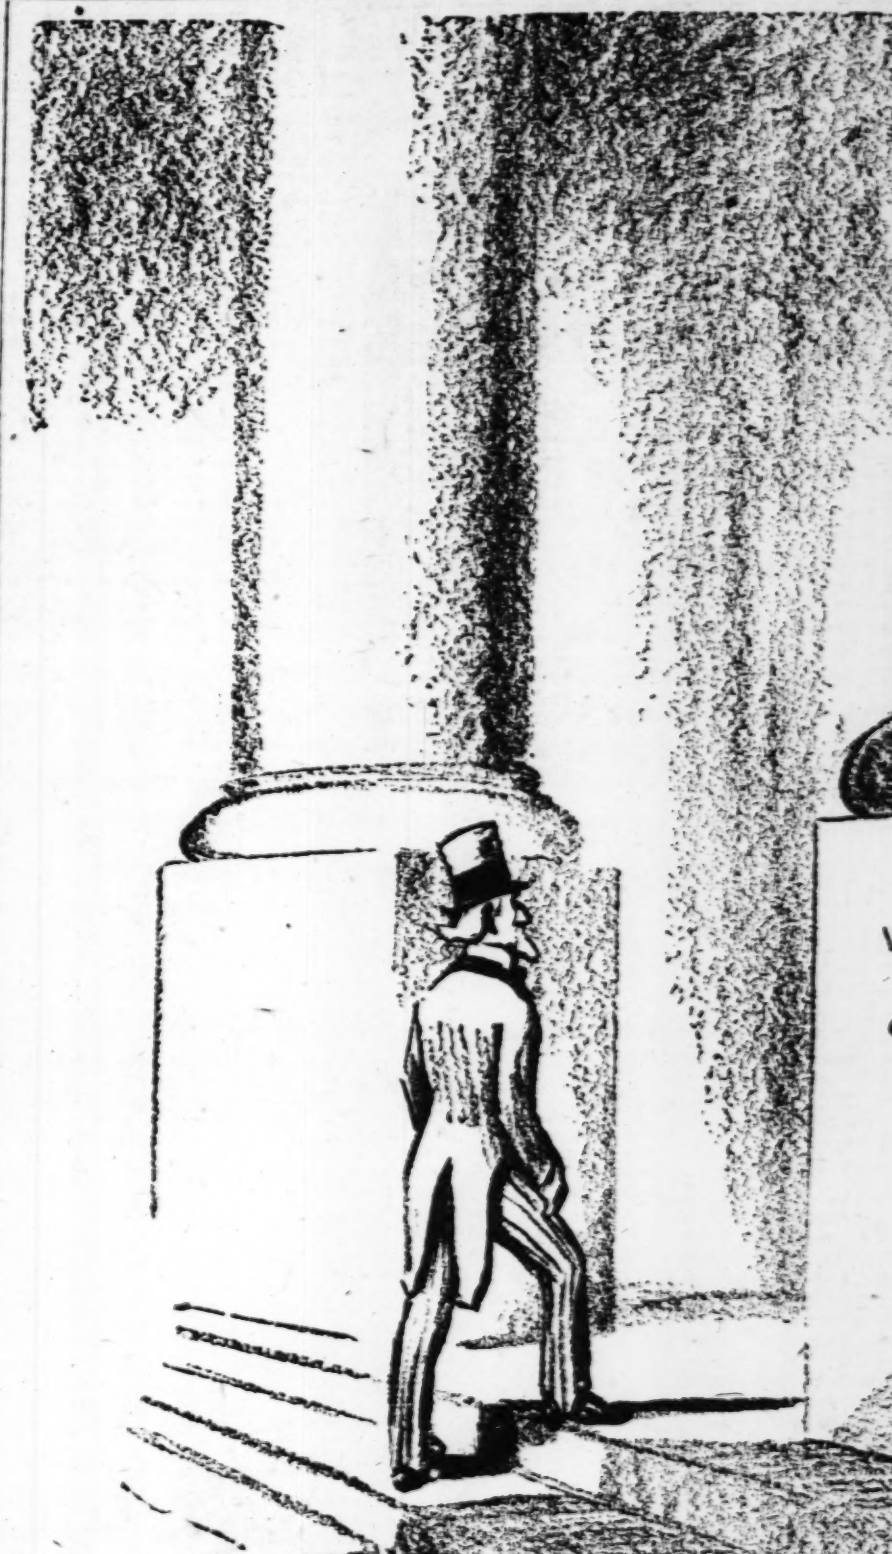

We fail to see any material difference in teaching men to break the enemy's neck and in teaching them to fire explosive projectiles. If we had our choice we should much prefer to meet an individual neck-breaker, eye-gouger or shin-kicker in No Man's Land than a flying load of shrapnel. The pacifists would do better to confine their activities to fighting war in principle. It is futile to object to just one savage aspect of an essentially savage thing.

THE WAY TO FIND YOUTH.

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, president of the University of Michigan, in an address on eugenics, ridiculed the "monkey-gland" rejuvenation theories and asserted that physical methods of attempted rejuvenation have been overdone. He argued that "the only way to find youth is to devote one's life entirely to youth."

The report of the lecture does not reveal how Dr. Little explained this statement. But his own career—he is now 37 years old—seems to show that this active and versatile man has enjoyed the essence of youth in satisfying an insatiable curiosity and devoting himself to study, research and the doing of work useful to the community. He has been a member of various eugenic bodies, cancer research commissions, American Society of Zoologists, Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine, and other similar societies. And he "carried on" as an aviation officer and as Major in the Adjutant-General's Department in the World War.

After all, is not the secret of youth to be found in the mind rather than in any bodily organ or gland? La Rochefoucauld said: "Youth is a contagious infection; it is the fever of reason." And the way to maintain that youthful enthusiasm is by immersing one's self in what interests the mind, whether it is something useful or what we call a hobby. The mind need never grow old. It is needless to say that, while this method is the surest way to keep young, the body must not be neglected. Mind and body are interdependent. A sound body is essential to a sane and contented mind.

IT WOULD BE THE BEGINNING OF A NEW WORLD SPIRIT

—President Coolidge.

MAECIAL O'KANE.

For years he battled with his earthly tasks
As one who, dogged, fights an endless Host.
And unforgiving, hopeless, only asks
And every petty rally, when he smiled
"Twice only as a kind of postulate,
A regulation grimace duly filed.
For condemnation from his ruling Fate.

One day O'Kane fell ill, and as he lay

A missionary angel on a ray Descended with a message from the Powers—

The doing of it, comes a rich reward,
Greater by far than any common spell!"
O'Kane smiled once and died, for he was

Senator Ralph of St. Louis County tells this radio story: He was out in his district during a campaign, and at one of the meetings back where the hills are high and the hollows deep they introduced the radio. After the entertainment a denizen of the Ozarks came up and said:
"Do you believe that voice come from outside?"
"Certainly I do," the Senator answered.
"Well, I'll never believe it 'til I hear my hogs squeal in front of that thing," the Missourian rejoined.

JAMES SPENCER.

The disadvantage of being in touch with spirits is illustrated by Conan Doyle's latest announcement. He says the world is going to suffer a great catastrophe in 1933. Suppose it is, isn't he the most miserable among us for believing it?

One of our readers says Dwight Davis must be a mighty good-natured man or he would not have sat around sweetly at the dinner given in his honor last week and listened to the Sixth Infantry Band playing "The Chocolate Soldier."

A New York concern writes us that without our help the Golden Rule cannot be made a working principle of life among men. We will go farther and say that with our help it can't be done.

Sign from a little town in Missouri:

• Loud talking and decorum absolutely forbidden in this hall.

• Line from a circular advertising a Thanksgiving shoot at Chesterfield, Ill.:
• All gunmen are invited to participate.

• Evidently the feud between city and country is off for Thanksgiving, which we consider a fine thing.

Hudson's Bay Co. Takes Action Against Books Containing Libelous Passages.

PUBLICATIONS of popular fiction in which statements misrepresent and are distinctly derogatory of the Hudson's Bay Co. in its fur trade business have been so numerous that legal action has been necessary which in several instances has resulted in apologies and the books' withdrawal from sale. Publishers and dealers as well as authors who realize the import of the contents of their books cannot unwittingly become liable to suffer the loss which will result if the publication has to be discontinued on account of libelous passages.—Publishers' Weekly, N. Y.

And we may doubtless soon expect the following:
"Books that hold up the Standard Oil Co. to execration are to be removed from the shelves of all public libraries under threat of prosecution."
"Henry Ford has called the attention of the District Attorney to the multiplication of libelous 'flavor' jokes in the papers, in vaudeville and in private clubs. He is taking steps to suppress the papers, indict the vaudeville actors and padlock the loungerooms of the clubs."

"Several trunk railroads have notified the Attorney-General of the United States of offensive printed matter in newspapers and magazines, criticizing the delay in operation of trains, insanitary condition of cars, inedible food in diners, etc. The publishers have been warned that they must hereafter mention only prompt arrivals, clean berths and appetizing meals."

"The Government is receiving complaints from all quarters that companies, corporations and trusts are being criticized in an annoying manner by individuals and in the public prints. Proposed legislation will hereafter forbid any comment on anything whatever unless it is distinctly complimentary."
TENAX PROPOSIT.

Str: Apropos Jos. D. Head's poetic contribution on American wanderlust, it may not be out of place to suggest, now that travel has become akin to a mania with thousands of our people that they see the beauties of their own country before they seek other places to find recreation. There is nothing in Europe that cannot be duplicated many times over here. Mr. Head seems to have hit the nail on the head. More power to him. Let us hear from him again. His pen seems to be not only facile, but always well pointed no matter what the subject is.

A DISGRACE TO THE NAVY.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

MOST naval men as well as the public generally must feel ashamed of the disgraceful procedure in the Shenandoah inquiry, which has degenerated into a series of attempts to cover up the amazing conduct of Secretary Wilbur. The Shenandoah disaster was one of the most tragic in the history of the navy. Instead of trying to get at the truth concerning the catastrophe, the head of the navy and his staff seem to have devoted most of their efforts to bringing discredit upon the widow of the Shenandoah's commander.

First of all, Secretary Wilbur denied that Mrs. Lansdowne had made the statement charging that her husband had protested against making the flight on which he lost his life. Then he denied the charge that when the official record showed that he was Secretary Wilbur and not Mrs. Lansdowne who had misrepresented the facts of the navy would remain silent.

Instead, an article written by Commander Lansdowne was seized upon by another effort to refute Mrs. Lansdowne's testimony. Finally, after it was decided to let Mrs. Lansdowne before the Court of Inquiry, the Judge Advocate of that court undertook, according to his own statement, to "help" her in preparing the testimony she was to give. Mrs. Lansdowne has sworn that what she was asked to do was to make essential modifications of her previous charges!

AMERICA'S OIL SUPPLY.

From the Seattle Times.

PROPHETS of gloom who have predicted that the United States, which produces 44 per cent of the world output of petroleum and consumes 72 per cent, soon would be destitute of this vital commodity have been rebuked by Sir Robert B. Heald, director of a large oil company. Heald, who has testified before the British Coal Mission that America's oil supply would be exhausted within 15 years, said it is comforting to receive assurance that all is well from so distinguished an authority. Realizing that our production of petroleum had risen from 25,000,000 barrels in 1919 to 100,000,000 in 1924, it was assumed that there must come a time when the stores of oil would be exhausted. However, new fields have been opened as needed. New pools have been found as fast as any that have been known in times past.

Perhaps the last store of oil has been exhausted, we shall have discovered a new fuel or a new source of energy. There is no apparent cause for worry.

DRAMA

"Shavings," Pathetic and Whimsical Play, Is Cleverly Acted at the Empress.

A certain hamlet of Maine where was a village toymaker named Jed Winslow, who, as all children happen to be, was a man of fiction and drama. How was he punished for possessing so many an organ is related in a touching but also amusing little play, "Shavings," which the Empress is playing this week.

The title is derived from Jed's habit of carving out of wood the playthings which are due in turn to the disorderly litter of his shop and manners. The place as dramatized by Pauline Phelps and Marion Short from a story by Joseph C. Lincoln.

The toymaker, bustling with his family, scroll-saw fish Captain Mops and Prophet Isalaha, is beset by a pretty young widow, her little daughter, and the widows brother, who arrives on a train to find the local bank, and when appears that a sum of money has vanished. Jed proclaims himself the thief. His reward is the capitulation of the widow to the union of the buttons of a Major in the National Guard.

The play is capriciously acted throughout, with especial honors due to J. Glynn McFarlane as the toymaker, Miss Leona Powers as the widow, Raymond Brown as a banker, Clare Hutton as the village schoolmaster and Bobby Reed as a gossiping male tennant.

JOHN STEEL is again headliner at the Orpheum.

John Steel is again headliner at the Orpheum. He is entertaining Orpheumgoers this week with sentiment, ballads. He also sings "Edith." Yesterday afternoon he brightened up his performance by inducing Rosetta and Vivian Dunne to leave their box and join him in a trio arrangement of "Remember," which was uproariously received.

Solly Ward, another revue star, the most substantial contributor to the program in a comic, pathos, tragedy, what-not, entitled "Shavings," wherein his Tiddiekins brought into play in scrapping with his wife, flirting with a French girl and playing papa to a French orphan. George Whitting and Eddie Bart provide another bright spot in "Several Songs, Scenes and Skits," assisted by a clever step-daughter, Virginia Mae.

A versatility act of unusual merit, introducing singing, dancing and athletics, is that of Mercer, Tennison and James. Charles Harrison and Sylvia Dakin again offer the dramatic melange of this and the last week.

Among the also-rans are Bert and a clown who falls off a table and a chair; Alice and an English comedienne, and the Sarantos, a troupe of acrobats. A good average show.

KIRK DECLINES FIFTH AVENUE PRESBYTERIAN CALL

New York Only City in World That Prigntens Him, Baltimore Pastor Admits.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23.—The Rev. Dr. Harris Elliott Kirk, for more than 24 years pastor of the Franklin Street Presbyterian Church here, announced at the morning service here today that he had declined an invitation to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City. Dr. Kirk declared he was convinced it was his duty to remain in Baltimore for the present.

While Dr. Kirk occupied the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Church for 8, both the Baltimore and New York congregations prayed for the pastor might be divinely guided to grant such his exclusive services. Dr. Kirk admitted that New York is the only city in the world that "prigntens" him, saying: "I feel more at home in Baltimore than I do here."

Dr. Kirk is a fundamentalist. He is 52 years old and a native of Missouri. He is the first minister to decline a call to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Church.

BISHOP OF WALL STREET CRITICALLY ILL AT HIS HOME

The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Rev. William Wilkenson, known as the Bishop of Wall Street, is critically ill at his home, where he has been confined for three weeks. Wilkenson is 77 years old and came from a quarter of a century ago from Minneapolis, where he had been preaching among the lumberjacks.

"The Bishop," who has been conducting noon meetings in Wall Street, mostly in front of the Submarine Building, for 29 years, soon would be destitute of this vital commodity have been rebuked by Sir Robert B. ## DRAMA

"Savings," Pathetic and Whimsical Play, Is Cleverly Acted at the Empress.

IN a certain hamlet of Maine there was a village toymaker named Jed, who, as all happens to artisans of this craft in fiction and drama, was married with a tender heart. How he was punished for possessing so much an organ is related in a touching but also amusing little play, "Savings," which the Empress stock company at the Empress is playing this week.

The title is derived from Jed's nickname, which is due in turn to his disorderly litter of his shop and manners. The piece is dramatized by Pauline Phelps and Marion Short from a story by Joseph C. Lincoln.

The toymaker, busied with his mechanical scroll-saw fish, Captain Jack and Prophet Isahiah, is beset by a pretty young widow, her little daughter, and the widows brother, who arrives contrite and begs for a job in the local bank, and when it appears that a sum of money has been stolen, Jed proclaims himself the thief. His reward is the capitulation of the widow to the unbuttoned buttons of a Major in the aviation service.

The play is capably acted throughout, with especial honors due to J. Glynn McFarlane as the toymaker, Miss Leona Powers as the widow, Raymond Brown as the banker, Clara Hutton as the village girl and Bobby Reed as a gossamer male mercenary.

John Steel Is Again Headliner at the Orpheum.

JOHN STEEL, musical comedy actor, is entertaining Orpheum patrons this week with sentimental ballads. He also sings "Elliott." Yesterday afternoon he lightened up his performance by singing Rosetta and Vivian Dunbar to leave their box and join him in a trio arrangement of "Remember," which was uproariously received.

Sully Ward, another revue star, the most substantial contributor to the program in a comic, pathetic play, wherein his Yiddishisms are brought into play in scuffling with his wife, flirting with a French girl and playing papa to a poor orphan. George Whiting and Eddie Burt provide another bright spot in several songs, scenes and dances," assisted by a clever step-daughter, Virginia Mae.

A versatility act of unusual merit, introducing singing, dancing and athletics, is that of Mercer, Temple and James. Charles Harrison and Sylvia Dakin again offer the sadistic melody of this and that.

Among the also-rans are Bert Salome, a clown who falls off a table and a chair; Alice and an English comedienne, and the Saratots, a troupe of acrobats. A good average show.

KIRK DECLINES FIFTH AVENUE PRESBYTERIAN CALL
NEW YORK City in World That Frightens Him, Baltimore Pastor Admits.

Dr. Kirk, Nov. 23.—The Rev. Dr. Harris Elliott Kirk, for more than 24 years pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City, has declined a call to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in Baltimore.

SHOP OF WALL STREET CRITICALLY ILL AT HIS HOME
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Rev. William Wilbur, known as the Bishop of Wall Street, is critically ill at his home, where he has been confined for three weeks. He is 77 years old and came to a quarter of a century ago to Minneapolis, where he had been much preaching among the "blackbirds."

The "Bishop," who has been conducting noon meetings in Wall Street, mostly in front of the Suburban Building, for 20 years, missed there of late. On Nov. 19, in his accustomed "pulpit," he was honored by a large number of financiers, and an American flag and a duplicate of the one on which George Washington took the oath of office as President was presented him. The Wilbur was the gift of Elbert Gary, who was the gift of Trinity Church for about 20 years. In 1917 he was retired from his post, but the "curiousness" could not be happy from his beloved Wall Street, and he was everywhere from the news to J. P. Morgan, knew him and greeted him. He could not be happy unless he was telling the great how to get right with God and keep right.

Social Activities

M. R. AND MRS. CLAUDE L. MATTHEWS of 4660 Pershing avenue will be hosts at a dinner dance at the St. Louis Country Club, Jan. 2 for their daughters, Miss Jane Skinner Matthews, who attends Miss Galtier's School near Louisville; their younger daughter, Miss Claudia, a student at Mary Institute, and their son, Rives, each of whom will preside over a table at which their own special friends will be seated. JOHN STEWART BARNEY, ARCHITECT AND PAINTER, DIES
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—John Stewart Barney of New York and Newport, R. I., an architect and painter, died yesterday. He was 57 years old. Three weeks ago he underwent an operation and it was thought he was out of danger.

Mr. Barney first became ill at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., about the middle of October. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Mary Alice Van Nest; a daughter, Mrs. John Keane of New York, and a son, J. Stewart Barney Jr., a Princeton undergraduate.

He graduated from Columbia, 1890, and studied architecture at the Ecole d'Arts in Paris. During the 20 years following his return to this country, he designed many buildings of public and semi-public character, including the Broadway Tabernacle, and the Church of the Holy Trinity.

Mr. Barney in 1915 began devoting his exclusive time to the painting of landscapes; some of his paintings receiving much favorable comment at special exhibitions. He was the author of two novels.

JUDGE BARCLAY'S LAST KNOWN ACT GIFT TO COMMUNITY FUND
A half-hour before his unexpected death last Tuesday afternoon, Judge Shepard Barclay wrote out and signed a check for $80, payable to the Community Fund.

The story of this, the last known act of Judge Barclay's life, was told yesterday at St. John's Methodist Church, to a Bible class, by the canvasser who obtained the subscription.

"It is said that we take nothing to our graves but what we have given away," the speaker said. "Think of making a gift to charity in the last hour of one's life."

Mrs. Bolling's Body to One's Life.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The body of Mrs. William H. Bolling, mother of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, was sent last night to Wytheville, Va., where burial will take place today. Funeral services were held last night at Mrs. Wilson's home, where the war President died.

London Girls Dine Without Hats.
LONDON, Nov. 23.—The girls are taking their hats off when they dine in public. Some matrons think the fact is just to show shingles and bobs.

New Films

IT is high time for the movies to put out the fire under flaming youth. The phrase "flaming youth" was never a very good one, anyway, and it has tempted movie directors into setting calcium flares and portraying adolescents as scarlet women and rounders who spout decadent philosophy to their conduct. There have been a great many pictures of this sort, and "We Moderns," at the Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol, is only another. It indicates two English parents failing to understand their children (as if youth and age could ever have the same viewpoint) and indicates the children for a series of grown-up escapades far past the imaginations of flappers and their boy friends. Some day the observer hopes to see a movie about youngsters who are devilish, not because their parents fail to sympathize with them, but merely because youngsters are devilish. When taxed with their shortcomings these children will not quote Oscar Wilde, Baudelaire, Francois Villon or H. L. Mencken. Instead they will struggle for words and say "Aw gee, Ma," or "Heck, Dad, have a heart." But in "We Moderns" Colleen Moore tells her mother, "You made me what I am," the poor woman wrings her hands and oodles of tears are shed when Colleen, repentant, comes home to marry a nice, old-fashioned young man. The picture is distinguished, however, for two things. It has the first seduction scene ever staged in the cabin of a dirigible. Colleen not only escapes from the villain, but her life, too, is saved when the airship crashes gently to earth, having collided with an airplane. Israel Zangwill wrote the novel from which "We Moderns" was taken.

Buster Out West.

THE tenderfoot on a ranch is the none too fresh theme which Buster Keaton selected for his latest picture, "Go West," on view at Loew's State. However, he manages to introduce several new gags and, with the help of a Jersey cow, puts across a fairly amusing feature comedy. Buster and the cow make an excellent team, one having about as much expression as the other. The high point in hilarity comes when Buster, dressed as a devil with horns, pilots a drove of steers through the city. According to the subtitle, the steers thought Buster was a rival. After many mishaps, the steers chase Buster into the stock yards and are locked up. Then, with the girl, her ranchman father and the cow, all loaded into a Ford, Buster fades from sight. Audiences will laugh at satisfactory intervals.

Miss Swanson Tries a Funny One.

THE desire of emotional movie actresses to star in a comedy, and comedians to star in tragedy being well known, it only remains to be said that Glorious Gloria should have stuck to her emotions. Not that "Stage Struck" at the Missouri is such a bad picture. Indeed, it manages to be rather amusing throughout. But the role of a stage-struck waitress who loves a better cake man is too short an order for Miss Swanson. Her best moments come at the start, when some rarely beautiful and almost perfect color work presents her as the actress the restaurant bouncer hopes to become. After that the part degenerates into clownish comedy which Louise Fazenda, who no doubt has yearnings to be a tragedienne, would have done much better than Gloria. Nevertheless, it is a good story, and enjoyable. The jam revue celebrating the inaugural of the Skouras Brothers' management is pretentious. From what the re-

For Charity's Sake.

Sweet Betty Bronson.

EVER since Betty Bronson acted in "Peter Pan" it was inevitable that the next picture would be one by Barrie, or at least Barrie-like. The whimsical Scot, not having anything on hand, perhaps, a movie scenarist made a try at being whimsical. The result is "The Golden Princess" at the Delmonte, and while not so darned whimsical, audiences will like it. The story deals with the California gold rush and Betty is a poor little girl whose father gets killed and whose mother runs away with the man who killed him. Nell Hamilton, a young man from Tennessee, takes care of her, Betty which is one of his funniest.

The Delmonte also is showing "One of the Graces," all about a brave fireman named Kelly, who loves Sarah Leavin. That's about all.

On a Tropical Isle.

THERE has been a great deal of discussion in literary circles as to the 10 books one would choose to take with him to a desert island. So far nobody has made a list of the 10 girls he would take with him to a desert island. The girl who plays in "With This Ring" (we forget her name) ought to be one of the 10. The picture, showing at Kings and Rivoli this week, deals with a hackneyed situation, but is absorbing for all that. A man and a girl are cast away on the island, and after marrying without benefit of clergy are separated through an absurd mistake. She thinks he has been killed and without taking two steps toward where he lies, only wounded, leaves the island with a boat of pearl fishers. They are reunited, finally, but the suspense is terrific. Kings and Rivoli also show a re-issue of Harold Lloyd's "Do," which is one of his funniest.

DOESN'T NEED ANY LAXATIVES NOW

Milks Emulsion made life a joy, no constipation or stomach trouble.

"I had catarrh of the stomach and head for three years. My stomach was so bad that every time I ate anything sweet, such as fruit or pastry, the burning hot water would run out of my mouth. I took a laxative every night.

"Since taking Milks Emulsion, my bowels move regularly. I have now taken ten bottles and have gained 10½ pounds. All my friends remark how fine I am looking, and it seems a pleasure to live again, without stomach trouble."—Bert Becker, Miami, Ohio.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Herman Stube, 35, of 1210 Herbert street, fractured right fore arm, possible fractured hip.

Mrs. Abraham Lowenstein, 32, of 2815 Lafayette avenue, cuts and bruises.

Mrs. William H. Schmidt and infant daughter of 4457 Page boulevard, probable internal injuries.

When she jumped from a moving automobile to escape the attention of a man who had offered to drive her home, Mrs. Helen Snyder, 31 years old, of 1708 North Taylor avenue, suffered skull fracture and serious internal injuries.

She was found unconscious in the street in front of 1839 Manchester avenue at midnight Saturday. During conscious moments at the City Hospital, where she is in critical condition, she described the offender to the police. He is being sought.

She had been to a picture show near Grand boulevard and Easton avenue and was looking in a shop window at that corner when a man called from an automobile, "Are you going home?" He looked like one of her neighbors, she said, and she did not realize he was a stranger until she was in the machine.

Tells of Leaping From Auto.

Failing to persuade him to stop his machine, she opened the door and plunged out, she related.

Mrs. William H. Schmidt, of 4457 Page boulevard, and her 14-month-old daughter, Margaret, probably suffered internal injuries this morning when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another driven by Arthur Updegraff, 18 years old, a student living in St. Louis County.

Mrs. Schmidt was riding in an automobile driven by her husband, with their two children, Margaret and Irene, 4 years old. Margaret and Mrs. Schmidt were thrown out of the car, but neither Schmidt nor Irene were seriously injured. Updegraff was held by police.

Three persons were hurt in a collision at Palm street and Garrison avenue at 11 a. m. yesterday between the automobiles of William Wiese, 1916 Palm street, and Delbert Flanders Jr., 4629 Margaretta avenue. Flanders' car overturned.

In Wiese's car, Edward Brinkman, 1916 Palm street, suffered a fractured left arm, and Herman Stube, 1210 Herbert street, fractured right arm.

Mrs. Abraham Lowenstein, 2815 Lafayette avenue, who was with Flanders, was cut and bruised.

Fred Massey, 22, of 623 Lynch street, suffered serious internal injuries, when his machine sideswiped a one-man Tower Grove street car on Eighteenth street near Hickory last night. His wife, Pearl, said he was trying to pass another machine parked in the street there. Massey and Motor-man J. H. Turner were arrested.

Woman Driver in Crash.

Samuel Mastman, 55, of 4332 Evans avenue, was hurt when an automobile driven by Miss Anna Pearson, 29, of 5893 Page boulevard, collided with the machine of Charles O. Lewis, 2661 Madison street, at Spring and Easton avenue, yesterday.

Mastman, who was in Lewis' machine, suffered lacerations of the scalp and possible skull fracture.

Benjamin Langenkamp, 50, of 7260 Manchester avenue, suffered skull fracture and internal injuries, when he was hit by the automobile of Louis Coppi of 1841 North Taylor avenue in front of 4311 Easton avenue.

CLARK ART COLLECTION TO BE PUT ON SALE IN JANUARY

Includes Work of Famous Old Masters and is Valued at Several Millions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The art collection of the late Senator William A. Clark of Montana, valued at several million dollars, is to be put on sale here at a series of public auctions in January. It has been announced.

More than 125 paintings by most of the famous old masters will be sold. Part of the collection was left to the Metropolitan Museum here and the Corcoran Gallery of Washington, D. C.

The heirs of the Clark estate have put the sale into the hands of the American Art Association.

Paintings by Rubens, Van Dyck, Gainsborough, Turner and many others are included.

Poison Found in Babies' Bodies.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Poison of an undetermined extent has been found in the bodies of Marion and Carl Duff, 3 and 2 years old, respectively.

Dr. William McNally, coroner's chemist, announced in a preliminary report yesterday.

The bodies of the two infants were examined in an investigation begun when Mrs. Selma Duff filed suit for divorce against her husband, Herbert.

Our Christmas Lamp Display is Ready

We Have Gathered Together

from the art centers of the world, the finest lamps we have been able to find. From the foreign nations of Europe, where art and craftsmanship have been traditional in families for generations—from China and Japan—even from the mystic Hindu legends of Syria—we have brought together in an exquisite array the finest lamps that the foreign world affords.

Here are Royal Sevens Porcelains from the old royal factories of France—Onyx from Belgium—Bronzes and Ceramic figures from Austria—Exquisite lace statuary originated by Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor—Alabaster statuary from the native villages of Michael Angelo and Cellini—Dresdens from Germany—Majolica from the obscure homes of the Italian peasantry—Japanese Cloisonnes and Satsumas—the mysterious black lustres of China—tooled brasses from Syria. The silks to make shades for these lamps are from the old royal mills which spun the fibre for tapestries of Fontainebleau and St. Germaine.

And we have not overlooked the artistic creations of our own American genius. In this world-wide display you will find the gems of our foremost American craftsmen.

Do not make the mistake of thinking that all these lamps are expensive. On the contrary, most of them are within the means of every St. Louis home. Our ten months payment plan makes it easy for you to have fine lamps in your home.

Make your choice early—there are no duplicates of many of these lamps. Rare, decorative lamps are the most prized Christmas gifts—because they distinguish beautiful homes.

Nothing Down—10 months to pay on purchases of $10 or more.

Page, Grand, Hodiament, BusVIEWS OF EX-KAISER ON BRITISH STATESMEN

By ARTHUR E. MANN, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1933, by the Press and Publishing Co., (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)
LONDON, Nov. 21.—Further intimate details of the life of the former Kaiser and his wife at Doorn were disclosed to the New York World and the Post-Dispatch by the Right Honorable Alexander Carlisle, a member of the Privy Council, friend of the former Emperor. Carlisle returned only a few days ago from a visit of two and one-half days at Wilhelm's estate. Carlisle said his trip, which he had in mind for some time, followed a formal invitation from the ex-Kaiser. As a member of the Privy Council he informed King George and Premier Baldwin of his intended visit, but he laughingly denied the rumors here that he went on some sort of "mission." "As soon as I decided to go," he explained, "I sent my passport to the Foreign Office for a visa, stating the purpose of my trip was to visit the ex-Kaiser at Doorn. I received it back endorsed for a visit to almost every country in the world, including Holland, but with no mention by the officials of the purpose I stated."

An Exchange of Bows. "I was much interested in what was to be an unusual ceremony performed by the ex-Kaiser and Princess Hermine when I arrived at Doorn. After being presented by the Lord State Chamberlain, we exchanged bows and then they prepared to pass before me into the dining room. Then the ex-Kaiser, instead of offering his arm to his wife in the usual manner, turned completely around where he stood while she executed a similar movement in the opposite direction."

"When they had finished their maneuver their backs were toward me, and as they concluded their full circle their arms linked and they walked into the dining room. "It was like a stately movement from an old-fashioned dance. As they set foot on the threshold of the darkened dining room the lights within flashed up, a practice followed whenever we changed from one room to another, which was very impressive."

"Dinner was simple but perfectly cooked and served, and there was, of course, excellent Rhine wine. I got a distinct impression that the ex-Kaiser ruled the conduct service of the dinner just as he once directed army maneuvers. Everything went with machine-like precision."

Asked About Statesmen. "At an almost inaudible signal from him the plates of the course just finished were whisked away and fresh ones put down. At another signal every wine glass was promptly filled or refilled. So it was all through the meal."

"During our conversation, lasting two hours and 10 minutes, the ex-Kaiser asked me whether I thought Britain today had any first-class statesmen and who they were."

"The ex-Kaiser declared he thought there were none, but that of all public men he was most impressed by Winston Churchill, whom he believed would go the furthest."

"Speaking of the war, the former Emperor said there had been far too much rivalry and competition on the part of both countries before the conflict."

Replies to a question whether the exile showed any desire to return to Germany or ambition to regain his throne, Carlisle, after slight hesitation, replied: "I went to Doorn as a friend and not to probe into the ex-Kaiser's private thoughts. He told me he had read the first two volumes of Lady Oxford's (Margot Asquith) reminiscences with great interest and enjoyment and that he was eagerly looking forward to the third."

Animal and Brings It Home Alive.

Willard J. Weber of Belleville, secretary of the Illinois Sportsmen's League, has in his possession a full-grown wolf, which he captured while hunting with Arthur Bishop on the John Rasp farm, near Shiloh, six miles north of Belleville.

The hunters came upon the wolf at a fence after it had caught one of its hind legs in a loop of wire.

"I like Chipso best for all kinds of washing and cleaning because it saves time, labor and money"says Mrs. Schneider, final winner of a $20.00 Chipso prize

Two of the winners of $20.00 prizes in this latest Chipso letter-writing contest have already been announced in advertisements appearing in this newspaper.

The judges announce today the final prize-winner, Mrs. August T. Schneider, 3712 Ohio Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

In Mrs. Schneider's interesting letter you will find several of the reasons why women have proclaimed Chipso "the most amazing success in the history of household soap." You will find her letter well worth reading—

St. Louis, Mo.,
November 4, 1933.PROCTER & GAMBLE
CINCINNATI, OHIO

I like Chipso best for all kinds of washing and cleaning because it saves time, labor and money. Chipso saves time because it does not require the chipping of bar soap by hand and dissolves so quickly in hot water.

It saves labor because in washing dishes and glassware it makes a good lasting suds that cuts grease and cleans easily. A bucket of Chipso suds makes linoleum look like new. The labor of washing clothes is greatly reduced by its use. After soaking the clothes overnight in Chipso and then washing in the electric washer with a good strong Chipso suds, the clothes are perfectly clean and sweet-smelling without any rubbing or boiling. Clothes last longer if they are not rubbed to pieces so this is a great saving of money. Chipso is also economical in price as it does not require as much as it does of other soaps to make a good lasting suds. Hoping Chipso may continue with even greater success, I am,

Yours very truly,
Mrs. AUG. T. SCHNEIDER,
3712 Ohio Avenue.

Women invariably are astonished at the amount of time and labor that Chipso saves them in their household duties. Chipso users emphatically say that it is different. But Chipso is not merely a soap that is more convenient to use—it is finer soap, too. It saves you the time and bother previously wasted in chipping and melting of cake soap, of course. But more than this,—it gets everything cleaner in less time. And you will be pleasantly surprised at its economy. You'll appreciate this the minute you see the big Chipso packages at your grocer's.

Happiness and Security Await You

On the Lovely Shore of Florida's Inland Sea With Successful Men Your Partners

ON the sunny, lovely shores of an inland sea—in an enchanting land of eternal summer where swimming, sailing and water sports of all kinds are everyday, safe pleasures . . . where fish abound . . . where hunting is a reality—here is the part of Florida that promises happiness and security to you. Distinctive. A chosen community—Clewiston. So carefully chosen that men whose business acumen is nationally respected, spent thousands of dollars surveying all Florida before selecting Clewiston as the site of their investments and endeavors.

An Ideal and Strategic Setting

On the cross state highway, now being completed—the terminus of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway—with the broad expanses of Lake Okeechobee at its front door—Clewiston, the townsite, is most strategically located in the opinion of the practical minds who selected it. Is, in fact, the logical site for the leading city of Florida's interior.

To further enhance its natural attraction, the internationally famous city planner, John Nolen, together with landscape architects and engineers have laid out Clewiston along the lines of a model city. Golf courses, a sparkling, palm-fringed beach and shoreline, broad boulevards, parks and architectural counsel will make of Clewiston an ideal setting for an outdoor life.

The Life Worth Living—with a "Backbone" of Permanency

A model city, a strategic location; a community unexcelled in its natural resources for the pursuit of health and happiness, Clewiston offers still one more factor—a "backbone" of permanence. Clewiston, the townsite, comprises but 2800 acres. Beyond it, enfolding it in the security of the world's most basic industry, are 50,000 acres of farm lands—said by experts to be the richest soil in the known world.

All of climate, recreation and health that the magic State of Florida affords, plus invigorating breezes off the broad expanses of Florida's fresh-water sea. A select community, planned tastefully, beautifully and modernly. Yet containing intrinsic values—the same intrinsic values that have regulated the price of real estate throughout history.

In all Florida today no more attractive opportunity awaits you. Choice locations are available. Because the story of Clewiston is so big, so distinctive, so sane and sound; we urge you to use the coupon and send today for illustrated literature containing further details.

B. G. DAHLBERG—President, and the man responsible for the phenomenal success of the Clewiston Company. Mr. Dahlberg states that he considers Clewiston the greatest opportunity in Florida today. In the region surrounding Clewiston thousands of acres of land are now being prepared for sugar cane and agricultural products.

Something Different

Back of Clewiston are four basic community building forces combining to assure a steady growth and increasing wealth.

1. An ideal climate and natural healthy environment, so necessary to the prosperity and social upbuilding of any community.
2. Transportation facilities. Clewiston enjoys rail transportation with Atlantic Coast Line Railway and will have water connections through canals and close to both ocean and gulf. It is now being connected with both coasts at Ft. Myers and Palm Beach by the new Cross State Highway, expected to be finished in April, 1929.
3. Agricultural wealth—superabundance in all seasons of the fruits, vegetables and cereals of the temperate zone and in due season of subtropical products, oranges, lemons, etc. And sugar-cane soil equal to the richest in the world.
4. Industrial activity—with new munitions plants at the door, the native products of the surrounding soil. The sugar mill and other industries contemplated for Clewiston should create a circulation of wealth, a basis for business and professional activity—the dawn of industrial Florida.

The combination of these four great elements offers a firm basis for the prediction that Clewiston will become one of the great cities of Florida. Send for maps showing highways, highways and canals.

Are You Getting Out of Life—All That You COULD Get?

Clewiston is sold by reliable and responsible real estate brokers. Use the coupon and get the full story. It will give you a brand new conception of the Florida investment question. It will show you where life may be lived in happiness and security.

PHILIPPINE COURT HOLDS BANK DIRECTOR NOT AT FAULT

Discharges Capitalist in Suit to Recover Money Lost in Hemp Deals.

MANTLA, Nov. 22.—Holding that the facts alleged in the complaint of the Philippine National Bank against five former directors do not constitute a cause for action, the Court of First Instance Saturday dismissed the case with special reference to William H. Anderson, capitalist of New York and Manila, one of the defendants.

The bank alleged that as the result of defendants' abuse of their powers the bank lost more than $500,000 through advances made to the Madrigal company for the purpose of purchasing and selling hemp for the bank's account.

The Court held there was no provision of the corporations law or in the bank's charter which expressly prohibits the transactions made by the defendants. The suit was instituted more than a year ago for the purpose of recovering from the former directors amounts alleged to have been lost through their action.

GAS, the Fuel of Science is ready to give you clean, dependable, smokeless heat.

Even though you have started your old furnace, there still is time to change to clean Gas Heat. You can have your gas heating plant installed during the coldest weather with no discomfort to your family. There will be no interruption in your heating service.

Now is the time to take this forward step. Don't start another winter of work and worry with worn-out ways of heating. Don't put up with dirt, dust, smoke and ashes. No longer need you wait on delayed coal deliveries. No more need you fire the furnace in the chill of early dawn.

Install Gas Heat and all through the winter your home will have the warmth of summer. Whether your house is large or small, bungalow, residence or apartment building, you can enjoy the many advantages of Gas Heat. Use it with a warm air furnace, steam, hot water or vapor system. A gas-fired furnace or boiler easily can be connected with your present heat supply lines.

Dependable Heat Under Automatic Control

Think how convenient! Fuel coming in through pipes in regulated flow. The thermostat keeps the heat even; turns gas on and off to meet all weather needs. Glowing heat when it's cold outside. Moderate heat in mild weather.

No racing up and down stairs. No bins to fill. No ashes to carry. Your basement as clean as your kitchen. Put your coal-storage room to a better use. Hundreds of other St. Louis homes have done it.

Get the Facts About Gas Heat

Our heating engineers will gladly supply you with full information about costs of installing and using gas heat. It will pay you to investigate. Don't put it off. Call or telephone—or send the Coupon.

CENTRAL TRADES OPPOSES TOBACCO TAX FOR SCHOOL FUND

The Central Trades and Labor Union voted yesterday to oppose Gov. Baker's plan to place a tax on tobacco sales for State school purposes and will send representatives to appear before the School Tax Advisory Committee, appointed by the Governor, to protest against the levy at Jefferson City Monday next.

David Kroying, secretary of the union, said the organization was in sympathy with the proposition that additional funds be raised for educational purposes, but said he believed selection of the tobacco industry amounted to discrimination. The organization would support a more general tax measure, he said.

The organization also drafted a bill providing for an increase in the pay of grand and petit jurors in St. Louis from $1.50 daily to $3.
The figure paid by the various counties of the State. The bill law permits the Board of Aldermen to designate the amount to be paid for jury service in St.
Louis.

Alderman Ralph Eilers of the Twenty-Sixth Ward has agreed to introduce the bill on behalf of the union. The bill would simply amend the existing ordinance which designates $1.50 as the daily pay of jurors by substituting $3 as the compensation.

Charged with passing two counterfeit $10 bills in South Side scribes himself as Jean V. Aguilar, 26 years old, a Cuban, is held at Soulard Street Police Station. He will be turned over to Federal authorities today.

He was arrested in the dry goods store of Joseph Cornblith of 1722 South Broadway after he tendered a counterfeit $10 gold certificate in payment for a 15-cent purchase.
Subsequently he was identified by Charles Buckley, clerk in the grocery at 1401 Chouteau avenue, as a man who paid for cigarettes with a similar bill earlier in the day.

Aguilar refused to make any statement to the Soulard police. No counterfeit money was found on his person.

Local College Teams Crippled For Final Tilt

Captains of Both Pickers and Billikens Likely to Miss Thursday's Games.

By John H. Alexander, St. Louis and Washington University will close the 1925 football season Thursday in a blaze of arms. Both captains Ramon and Levy will miss the last game in their college football careers to help their battered mates to much-needed victories. Unless some marvels of medical science intervene. The Billikens meet Vermont and the Pickers take on Grinnell.

The outlook for Thursday is hardly a brilliant one. Ramon will be in to face the Billikens, but his participation in the game probably will be as short as last Saturday, when, on the first day, he grabbed a Carnegie prize play, he grabbed a Carnegie prize play, he grabbed a Carnegie prize play.

Levy has a wrenched knee, which was aggravated while he saw action against Oklahoma. It is hard to say how long he will be able to face Grinnell. E. J. Cloutier, the position trouble dates back three years, when Haskell tackled him out and he has played ever since with various pains and tapings. His trouble, lately diagnosed as an exposed nerve, has baffled specialists and spread to the region of his neck.

More Billiken Injuries. St. Louis will also be without Tom Stanton who, in addition to a weak wrist and a touch of sciatica, suffered a twisted knee last week. Fitzgerald, the other regular end since Whitey Kahle's temporary demise, was the hardest hit in Saturday's game and unless he shows improvement, his shoulder will be X-rayed for a possible fracture.

This means that the Billikens will face Vermont with two ends who never saw action at the position until the middle of the season. They are Holz and McCarthy.

Bannibal Out of Game. Art Bannibal, picker guard, suffered a dislocated shoulder against Oklahoma. Levy's football job will be taken over by either George Senne or Jimmy Floun. Coach Higgins has several men available for the vacancy at guard.

A note of tragedy was added to the Washington season by the death Saturday of Grover Padfield, assistant coach, who died of pneumonia. His burial will take place tomorrow and a short service in his honor will be held at Francis Field Thursday, prior to the game.

WESPERS SHOW IMPROVED FORM IN BEATING WELLSTONS

Jimmy Dunn's Toe And Schweppe's Head Defeat Ratican Eleven, 3 to 1

Will Choose Between Winners as to Which Shall Oppose Canadian Soccer Eleven of Chicago in Next Sunday's Exhibition.

By Dent McSkimming.

Guided and inspired by the excellent work of Joe Hand at center forward, the Wespers came back into their own in beating the Wellstons, 3 to 0, in a St. Louis Soccer League game yesterday afternoon. Hand, a fullback under ordinary conditions, was transplanted to center forward yesterday in a desperate experiment to improve the attack.

Jimmy Dunn's toe and Schweppe's head scored three goals for the Wespers and enabled them to beat the Raticans in the second game, 1 to 1. About 1800 persons watched the double-header, which was played on dry, fast ground at the St. Louis U. Field.

It will be decided by the directors of the St. Louis Soccer League today or tomorrow which team, the Wespers or Ben Millers, will be sent to the Canadian Club of Chicago in an exhibition game here Sunday. Since the Wespers had the upper hand in the Chicago game of opposing the Chicago Wespers a few weeks ago, it is probable that the Ben Millers will represent St. Louis against the Canadian club. The Millers and Wespers are tied now for the local league lead.

Sun Bothers Players. A high wind, a low, bright sun and a remarkably fast field made the ball hard to control and resulted in so many mistakes that neither game was wholly satisfactory. Always, the team which defended the goal was at a considerable disadvantage, looking up the sun and driving against the steady wind. Five of the six goals for the day were scored in the east goal.

Ed Burke's return to center forward served to make the Wespers' defense more skilful if not quite so vigorous as when Gockel was in the game. Reid at fullback kicked just as well as Hand could have done and probably kept his legs lower, for the reason that he was not always pressed to protect himself from flying enemy feet. Reid at fullback had become so utterly disliked by all opposite forwards that he found it necessary to give much attention to the opposing man, and his kicking suffered thereby.

Wespers Play Much Improved. In all, the Wespers showed a much improved game and hope to be held out for further improvement. Hanson, at inside left, played sound football with some speed and much punch. His goal was a terrific thing driven straight through from just outside the penalty. Hand's goal was even more spectacular, a rifled shot from outside the penalty line.

La Barge, in goal, saved many dangerous shots from the Wellstons' forwards. Hart tested him in the first minute of play. In all, the Wespers showed a much improved game and hope to be held out for further improvement. Hanson, at inside left, played sound football with some speed and much punch. His goal was a terrific thing driven straight through from just outside the penalty. Hand's goal was even more spectacular, a rifled shot from outside the penalty line.

Another scoreless game was played at Manchester Park where the South Sides and the Fairmount Demos played without a decision. The Schollmeyers and Gebkens fought to a 2-2 verdict in the other Manchester Park contest.

WRAY'S

ABOUT RED GRANGE.

THERE will be a busy page of John H. Griffith, the "Judge Landis of the Athletic World," to come to the aid of the party—pronto!

Condone it as one may, the evidence planning of Grange to turn professional immediately after his final college game, abandoning his intellectual education in the middle of a school term, was a right-hand swat to the ideals of the university world.

The example set the hero-worshipping youth of the country by Red is esteemed a vicious blow at amateurism by educators, and so the call for help is being privately flung to the Big Ten sports doctor—Maj. Griffith. He will be unable to do anything with the situation. Neither Griffith, nor faculties, nor propaganda has served to stem the steady set of the tide in a commercial direction, for all sort of college sports, particularly that of football.

Laugh This Off.

UNIVERSITIES seem almost hopelessly committed to serving as apprentice shops for educating youth to either play professional football or teaching it for gain.

What a long, long way back to those days when our football heroes fought and literally bled for the love of the game, and even came back and spent their own money and time to help coach alma mater for no reward! A dispatch reads that, among others, "Grange and Britton will be lost to Illinois by graduation." One "graduate" today, when one's football education is completed, it seems.

We hope Maj. Griffith can laugh this off.

Reaping the Whirlwind.

THE worst blow college football ever received, "yesterday among the more far-seeing alumni of universities.

That may be a bit extreme; but the situation is serious enough to those who consider the commercial trend harmful. But though the universities "deplore and regret," etc., ad infinitum, if they look the situation squarely in the eye they will find themselves in no mean measure to blame.

In so far as universities have fostered football for advertising purposes, they have promoted the sport in the same spirit in which many players have pursued it—for profit of one sort or another.

Take your pick as to which is the more guilty—university or player.

Disease Spreads.

ILLINOIS especially seems to be tainted with the spirit of harnessing football education to money making pursuits.

Besides Grange, on the "Bears" the Chicago eleven to which Red deserted are the two Sternman boys, Macomber, Walquist and other gridiron heroes with Illinois football records. Almost the entire eleven consists of former Illinois.

And it is not so far back in history when a group of Illinois

Yost, in Starting His Memoirs, Says That He Owes Everything to Football

Game, His Hobby at Beginning Has Turned Out to Be His Life Work, Writes Famous Michigan Coach.

This is the first of a series of articles by Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at Michigan University, telling of his "30 years in football."

By Fielding H. Yost.

CLOSE my eyes as I sit down to begin this story . . . and from out of the past comes an interminable array of pictures, and slowly they pass in review. They take me back to the hills of Marion County, W. Va., where I was born, and lead me on and on through an endless sequence of events and experience.

I do not like to surry as I dwell again on each separate picture. I am mindful of the fact that the world of football calls me "Hurry-Up!" but in this instance, I would prefer to crawl, and to taste again of all the old charms of the game, and to linger reflectively on the thrill of each ancient incident.

Thirty years of football is indeed a long time, but the nature of the game is such that it keeps me young; and so, with other time-tanned travelers of life, I fall back on the old, old bromide and say, "It seems but only yesterday."

And, of course, it does. It was yesterday that I pitched hay as a boy on my father's farm at Fairview. It was yesterday that I played my first game. It was yesterday that I coached in the East and the West and on the Pacific Coast, and had my first success. We live today, but find the sweet fruits of life in our yesterdays. "Tomorrow will never come."

Some Great Players.

It was yesterday that Neil Snow and Willie Heston had their great and glorious days at Michigan. It was yesterday that Walter Camp, Ted Coy and Tom Shevlin had their days at Yale. It was yesterday that Walter Eckersall ran riot on Western fields, and it was yesterday that Orvie Overall and Brick Muller plowed up the Pacific Coast and the other greats in the Legion of the Great had their days everywhere.

And now, as I close my eyes, the pictures of all these yesterdays pass in review. The East is the East and the West is the West; and in these pictures, as in indubitable fact, the twain do meet. For football knows no geographical limits in this country. Intersectional competition has broken down all geographical barriers and prejudices.

Along with everybody else who has either played or coached, I owe a great deal of the game. With me it has always been a hobby. It has never been my business or profession. I have, I think, endowed me with an equipment which has enabled me to progress considerably and securely in the fields of business, and so I have always been able to retain my interest in it and give it a great deal of my time, for most intelligent people like to be useful in the living of their lives. Football has given me the kind of opportunity I wanted. I have preferred to assist in the process of building boys into men through the medium of a great game; and as I look at it, the work has been a vital one. If I had been inclined toward preaching I should have gone into the church. Teaching did not appeal to me, either. Football, however, did, and while making it my hobby I have also made it my life work.

"Seems Like Yesterday When I Played My First Contest," He Asserts After Connection of 30 Years.

Owes Game Everything. AND now, after 30 years, I look back and find that I owe the game everything—my fortune and my happiness; and it seems fitting that I should acknowledge that debt at the very outset of these memoirs, and to acknowledge particularly one part of that debt in detail.

Dan McGugin, a member of the first team I ever coached at Michigan—it went through the season of 1901 undefeated and scored 550 points while holding its opponents scoreless—decided to be married two years or so after he graduated. Simultaneously, a charming young lady of Nashville, Tenn., arrived at the same conclusion. As a matter of fact, they arrived at the decision together.

Dan had been an important cog in my great team of 1901, and when Vanderbilt University wrote and asked me to recommend a coach for its football team I suggested that Dan was the man they wanted. He had helped me coach my 1903 team and it turned out he was precisely the man for Vanderbilt. He met with considerable success. He also met the young lady to whom, he wrote me, he was to be married, and wouldn't I be his best man? I would, and was.

The maid of honor was a sister of the bride. Romance stalks abroad in the world of football. Through the circumstances of having been Dan's head coach at Michigan and having recommended him to Vanderbilt, where he is still turning out winning teams, I was invited to be his best man; and in this capacity I met the bride's sister.

"It seems but only yesterday." The sister of the bride that day is now Mrs. Yost, and Dan and I are brothers-in-law.

St. Louis Seeks Annual Regatta For Speedboats

Bid Will Be Made at Valley Powerboat Body's Meeting Here Today.

Edwin C. Koenig, local motor boat enthusiast, will attend the convention of the Mississippi Valley Waterways Association at Hotel Statler today to lay St. Louis' bid for the national speedboat races before officers of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association, who are delegates to the present gathering. Should the application receive favorable response, the races would be held next July on the river between the Eads and Free bridges.

A guarantee of $6000, necessary for the promotion of the titular event, can easily be raised, according to Koenig, through program advertising. Any money raised, above expenses, would be turned over to the Community Fund or a similar charitable organization. Koenig estimates that several thousand persons, including a large number of visitors, would witness the two-day program and has already made tentative arrangements for seating many thousand spectators. Barge, local steamers and temporary bleachers used for city athletics would be pressed into service.

Three local boats would represent St. Louis in the races. They are the Baby Panhard, Miss St. Louis and the Hawk, a cruiser. They were seen in action here last summer in a regatta. High officials of the waterways body are said to favor awarding the national event to St. Louis.

POLICEMEN'S HOMES BOMBED

Woman Seriously Injured in One of Four Chicago Outrages.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Four bomb outrages, two of them directed against the homes of policemen, had been active in prohibition law enforcement, occurred yesterday.

Mrs. Sophie Starck was possibly fatally injured in another explosion, which wrecked a coffee shop. The fourth bombing at a tire shop was attributed to labor troubles.

SAYS CONAN DOYLE WAS FOOLED BY FAKE SPIRIT PHOTO

Investigator Also Declares Another Spirit Picture Is Taken From a Murillo Painting.

Second Purports to Reveal St. John, Surrounded by Children Whom Mothers Recognized.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, lecturer on spiritualism in this city once, showed his audience a picture of 12 firemen in Chicago against a background of smoke under the impression that he was exhibiting a remarkable spirit photograph, writes Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, investigator of supernatural phenomena, in the current issue of the Scientific American.

Dr. Prince, whose article, "My doubts about spirit photographs" is described as a scientist's answer to Conan Doyle's recent "The Case for Spirit Photographs" explain that he is telling for the first time how the noted spiritualist was fooled by a fake.

"At a lecture in New York," the investigator writes, "Doyle showed a picture of a dozen firemen who perished in a Chicago fire, thrown on a background of smoke from the burning building. He admitted that he did not know the history of the picture but it looked so much like the famous Centoaph spirit photograph that he adopted it."

Told Doyle of Blunder. "I recognized it at once as a fake made by a Chicago photographer to show what could be done. I saved the lecturer from repeating his blunder, and would not tell the story now had Doyle not become so bitter against common sense, education and so dangerous to the public which thinks the inventor of an impossible fiction detective must himself be a good detective."

Dr. Prince begins his article with the statement: "I do not deny that there are spirit photographs, but 'has ma dooty' of pronounced character."

He attacks first what Conan Doyle has said is the most remarkable spirit photograph that he ever has seen. It was taken by two English boy mediums in a Spiritualist church in England. At the top is a male figure with long beard and one hand extended with fingers spread. Flanking this are several small nude child forms. The "ectoplasm" lies about chickly. The mother of the photographers, a medium, said the adult figure was that of St. John the Evangelist, who at times was her guide. Four other mothers recognized their children in the four baby forms.

Origin of Picture. "Do London Spiritualists never visit their national gallery?" asks Dr. Prince. "There hung, and I suppose hangs now, the original of the picture of 'St. John' and the four recognized children, unmounted and unecoplasmized. As I the first to discover that the upper two-fifths of a print of Murillo's 'Holy Family' is what furnished the basis of this 'spirit' photograph."

"The 'St. John' was meant by the artist for the Delta, the four recognized children are the cherubs common in such pictures two and a half centuries ago, the dove has been blotted out by the 'ectoplasm' and the lower half of the picture cut away. But I will not dispute that is the best spirit photograph ever."

DEATH RATE IN MISSOURI SHOWED DECREASE IN 1924

Total of 40,474 as Compared With 42,943 in 1923—Mortality From Influenza Less. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The death rate in Missouri decreased from 1221 per 100,000 population in 1923 to 1171 per 100,000 in 1924, according to mortality statistics just given out by the Department of Commerce. This decrease was largely due to decline in the death rates from influenza and diphtheria. There was a marked increase—from 139 to 146—in the death rate from diseases of the heart.

The deaths from all causes exclusive of still births numbered 40,474 in 1924 as compared with 42,943 the preceding year. Cause of suicide dropped from 590 to 497, while homicides rose from 433 to 457.

$2000 MERCHANDISE ROBBERY FROM EXPRESS CAR REPORTED

Seal Found Broken on Train Which Left Union Station When It Reached Duquoy, Ill.

Merchandise valued at $2000 was stolen from an express car of the American Railway Express Co. while attached to a Cotton Belt passenger train which left Union Station at 9:08 p. m. Saturday, police were told yesterday.

Chief Special Agent Hines of the Terminal Railway Association said today the robbery did not occur in the terminal yards, but was discovered when the train reached Duquoy, Ill. The American Railway Express Co. had not obtained a report of the theft, but officials said they understood an unoccupied sealed car containing castings, dry goods and other merchandise of no great value was found with its seal broken.

25 Typhoid Cases After Banquet. By the Associated Press. PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 22.—Twenty-five cases of typhoid fever, all of the victims women but two, which have developed in the vicinity of Delavan, Emden and Lincoln, have been traced to a community banquet held at Emden Oct. 16. Every patient had attended the banquet, at which the women were served in the dining hall. The men and children ate in the cafeteria below. It is believed that chicken served was the cause.

TEXAS TURKEYS FOR COOLIDGE. Cuero Packing Company to Send Largest Bird in State. Special to the Post-Dispatch. QUERO, Tex., Nov. 22.—A big gobble turkey, the largest in Texas, is expected to grace the table of the nation's chief executive again this year. A local packing company has selected two large birds for President Coolidge and the first lady of the land, one for Thanksgiving and one for Christmas.

Cuero, the city made famous by this bird, has sent turkeys to the nation's presidents for the past 10 years and this year will be no exception.

Meeting Competition by Efficiency

An industrial organization can meet competition in only one way which is fair, equitable and of positive value to the consumer of its products.

The way lies in the development of superior efficiency. This procedure is followed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Economies in production and marketing constitute the best ammunition with which to meet competition. Such economies are possible only through efficiency.

Skill in manufacturing, skill in management, together with the conservation of effort and material, enable the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to render its customers a maximum of service through reliable deliveries and high quality products at reasonable prices.

Skill in manufacturing and skill in management are based upon trained intelligence, functioning through organization.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) puts trained men on its tank wagons; at its service stations, as well as in its refineries and laboratories.

The Management stresses the value of integrity and adheres to the strictest principles of honor in all business dealings.

It appreciates the importance of high mental capacity. It realizes that, in its points of contact with the public, this intelligence insures the service it is striving to render. For example, a careless or inefficient agent may cause the Company losses which the executive department cannot save.

Only integrity and intelligence throughout the organization can effect the sound economies which minimize avoidable mistakes, lost time, lost effort and lost customers.

These economies in operating this Company's business, are passed on to the consumer in low prices.

The next time you drive into a service station of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) please reflect that it is there for your convenience. It is merely the tangible expression of the Company's effort to serve you efficiently.

BARCLAY'S LIBRARY DISPOSED OF BY WILL

Former Judge's Law Books Go to Law Library Association
—Other Bequests.

A large library of law books and numerous other works is disposed of thoughtfully in the will of former Supreme Judge today. Judge Barclay, a prominent member of the bar, died Nov. 17, aged 78.

The residue of the estate, value of which is not known, is left equally to Judge Barclay's half-sister, Mrs. Lucy E. McClelland of Washington, D. C., and his old friend, Edward Mallinckrodt Jr. of 16 Westmoreland place, who is made executor. Mrs. Barclay, who died last year, and Mallinckrodt's mother were sisters, and the will speaks of the kindness and generosity of the Mallinckrodt family to the Barclays.

Disposition of Books.
To the Law Library Association, Pierce Building, Judge Barclay bequeathed $500 and all of his law books. In his office in the Rialto Building he had about 2,000 law books, comprising old legal reports, philosophical treatises, texts and other volumes. At his home he had hundreds of volumes of varied nature, showing his wide interest—poetry, philosophy, essays and other subjects.

The executor, Mallinckrodt, is to get all of Judge Barclay's Bibles and 30 other books which he may select. Mrs. Mallinckrodt is to get 20 volumes. Dean Richard L.
Goode of the Washington University law school is to receive all the works of Jefferson and Hamilton. To Mrs. Henry Elliott Jr., Mrs. Mallinckrodt's mother, are to go 20 books. Former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm is bequeathed all of Judge Barclay's books in German except legal works. Mrs. McClelland is to receive a Century dictionary and 20 other books. Gordon G. Black, an engineer, is the recipient of all of the books of their fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, and 20 other volumes.

Bequests of Money.
Specific bequests of money in the will are preceded with the statement that they are "in execution of the wishes of my beloved wife, Katie Barclay, who led the way into the sunshine of eternal morning." These legacies are:

Mrs. Margaret C. Smith, Mrs.
Barclay's sister, $1,000; Dr. John Campbell Smith, her husband, $500; each of three godchildren of Mrs. Barclay, $250; St. George's Episcopal Church, $1,000; Edward Mallinckrodt Sr., $100; Henry E. and George E. Mallinckrodt, $100 each; Rev. Robert Hall Atchison, former rector of St. George's Church, $250; St. Louis Bar Association, $500; Missouri Sate Bar Association, $500; St. Louis University, where Judge Barclay studied and played baseball, 1885-87, $500;
the University of Virginia, where Judge Barclay took up law, $500.

To Mrs. Barclay's sister is left also Ohio and Madison County, Mo., estate acquired from Mrs. Barclay's estate, and to Judge Barclay's sister are bequeathed mortgages on two pieces of downtown property.

ESTIMATE OF NATIONAL TAX

Industrial Board Places Total of All Levies at 19 1/2 Per Cent.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Twelve and a half cents out of every dollar, of the combined income of the American people during the last year, went into taxes, according to a study in taxation made by the National Industrial Conference Board. The total burden of Federal, State and local taxes has nearly doubled in proportion to national income since 1913. The Board says, rising from 6.9 per cent in 1913 to 12.5 per cent in 1924.

"While the increase of taxation in proportion to national income in 1924 in part was due to increased State and local tax levies, it was, in part, however, also due to a decrease in national income during that year," the Board says.
"The national income in 1924 is estimated at $63,000,000,000 as against $65,000,000,000 in 1923, representing a decrease of 3 per cent for the year. Expressed in dollars of current purchasing power, the national income in 1924 was almost double that of 1913."

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Dorris Thompson of West Haven, Conn., to E. M. Wolfe of Coshocton, O., a substitute player on the Yale varsity football squad, was made Saturday night at the Yale-Harvard football dance in Boston. The ceremony took place in Tuxedo, N. Y., Aug. 30.
In the Yale-Army game, Wolfe prevented an Army touchdown by kicking a West Point player so hard only a few feet from the goal line that the latter fumbled, Yale recovering the ball.

Dolly Olive is a walking, talking, rolling-eye beauty. Lifelike, pretty and sturdy, she has been rightly called

"The Doll Supreme"

She will say "Mama" at her little mother's will, and her "voice" will not soon wear out. She rolls her eyes gaily, winks mischievously and sleeps beautifully, and she

Wants a Home

Dolly Olive's Bed is unusual, too.
It's a real Bed, with real springs and mattress—an exact duplicate, in miniature, of the full-size famous Smith & Davis Beds. 20 inches long, 15 inches high at the head and 12 inches at the foot; enameled in white, blue or pink; it is at once a dainty and durable Bed, worthy in every way of the exceptional Dolly that will grace it.

Granite City, Venice or Madison, Illinois, or in Maplewood, Webster Groves, Kirkwood or Clayton, Mo., (anywhere within the St. Louis city carrier delivery limits), mail or bring the Subscription Order Blank to the Post-Dispatch, Circulation
Dept., Twelfth and Olive Sts., St. Louis, Mo.

If you live in a Missouri or Illinois town, where the Daily Post-Dispatch is sold and delivered by local newsdealer, take the Subscription Order Blank to the newsdealer and ask him to approve the subscriptions. When he has done that, send the Order Blank direct to the Post-Dispatch, at above address.

IMPORTANT: This new Dolly Olive and Her Dainty Bed offer is entirely apart from the Steel-craft "Bull Dog" Dump Truck offer for fifteen subscriptions. While both offers are exceptional in terms of generous value, they must not be confused in the minds of our boy and girl friends, and we cannot consent to transfer of credits based upon subscription orders from one plan to the other.

Subscriptions received here under the terms of the Steelcraft "Bull Dog" Dump Truck offer will not be credited toward a Dolly Olive-Dainty Bed award, nor vice versa.

To the subscriber: If you are already a Post-Dispatch reader—regularly buying this newspaper on the street or having delivery made at home, DO NOT sign in this space arranged above for NEW subscriptions. To do so, will only result in disappointment to the child who presents this order blank.

All subscriptions received under this offer will be investigated as to validity of the order and the subscriber's responsibility.

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to accept or reject any subscription order at its option.

None will be accepted from persons identified with the delivery or sale of the Post-Dispatch nor for delivery in the territory lying between Cass Avenue and Chouteau Avenue, and between the Mississippi River and Grand Avenue, in St. Louis, nor within the East St. Louis district south of Missouri Avenue and west of Twentieth Street.

All St. Louis awards of Dolls and Doll Beds will be delivered at the office of the Post-Dispatch, Twelfth and Olive Streets.

Delivery of out-of-town awards will be made through local newsdealers or sent by mail, prepaid, to R. F. D. addresses.

FORMER COUNTESS, PENNILESS, TRIES TO END HER LIFE

One-Time Owner of 20,000 Acres in Poland Lost Suit Over Stage Contract.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—On the record books of Harlem Hospital is the name Maria Kaldine. There's nothing about the penning of it to attract attention—just another case in the free ward, apparently.

A few years ago Maria Kaldine's name would be correct, have been written Countess Razibor of Poland and a stickler for details might have added: "Owner of 20,000 acres of land in Russia; descendant of noble families."

A few weeks ago the same stickler for details could have added: "Chorus girl at $32 a week; too proud to keep job." But last Thursday, when the entry was made, these words—and there is no doubt as to the authenticity of the facts here—were the ones really written: "Attempted suicide. Destructive. Ward No. 5."

For Maria Kaldine, who tells of days of wealth and tries in Poland which were swept away by war, found the cupboard in her apartment crumbly last Thursday. The rent was overdue. A suit to collect payment on a vaudeville contract had just been decided against her. She sent her husband, Victor Kaldine, who lists famous Russians as his ancestors, out walking with their dog, turned on the gas and penned this note as the fumes seeped into her lungs:

"If there is no justice in this world, I am going somewhere where I shall meet the maker of men and there demand justice." Mrs. Kaldine once sang in grand opera in Moscow, she says, and then toured all of Europe's capitals in vaudeville.

She is the daughter, her husband explains, of the late Count Leonard Razibor of Warsaw, once Governor of South Poland. After the World War she and her husband came to America. She became a scrub woman. Then came the vaudeville contract. She insisted on solo parts, sued, lost and sought death.

FORGER'S CHECKS ALWAYS MYSTERIOUSLY MADE GOOD

Milwaukee Police Find 'Famous' Case in Man Who Gave Name As Peter Daly.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 22.—A mystery man left the city last night leaving an unusual chapter in its police history. Charged with forgery under the name of Peter Daly, 49 years old, from no where, he vanished under orders of Judge Shaugnessy of Municipal Court after the latter had given him a suspended sentence.

Revelations by police and his own admission were that Daly had cashed hundreds of worthless checks in many cities, but never once has his intended victim been the loser by the transaction. From some mysterious source, every check had been made good until the total has reached a tidy fortune.

Daly declared that he does not know who is picking up his worthless paper or why. He only knows, he said, that private detectives have trailed him constantly for years, never molesting him, but keeping him under surveillance and paying the bad checks as fast as he passed them. None of the cities wanted Daly, private detectives taking up his check.

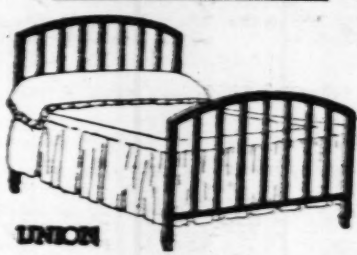

Daly acted as his own attorney during his trial here and astonished court attendants with his knowledge of procedure, his faultless English and refined manner. Judge Shaugnessy took the case under advisement, and, although finding Daly guilty, suspended his sentence with the provision that he leave the city.

The trial developed that Daly wrote the worthless checks with one hand and indorsed them with the other. The writing was in no way similar and would not be thought to have been written by the same person.

Springfield, Mo., Merchant Killed.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 22.—Glenn G. Pinkbrier, 35 years old, president of the Pinkbrier Transfer and Storage Co. of this city, was killed last night in an automobile collision. Cornelius D. Pinkbrier, his father, was critically injured. John Ellis, in another car, attempted to beat a street car to an intersection and did not see the Pinkbrier car crossing the street from the opposite direction. Ellis was not hurt.

Trains to Plantations Cut Off.
Havana, Nov. 22.—Special agents of the Interior Department have gone to the Province of Camaguey to investigate a report that sugar mill owners, in reprisal against planters for refusing to cut their cane, have severed rail communications with the plantations. The report said a food shortage was threatened by the stopping of trains.

CHAPTER XVII

The First Fruit of Deception

THEY drove to an address in the Fifties, between Sixth avenue and Broadway. There was a modish shop on the first floor, and they went through a side door and up a flight of dark and dingy stairs. Sue was quite unprepared for the charm and luxury of the apartment into which Miss de Verne admitted them. It was handsomely furnished, and, despite the noon-day sun, heavy brocade curtains were drawn at the windows, and the place was lit with a profusion of richly shaded lamps. The actress herself wore a tea gown of orchid velvet, which wrapped her like a sheath; there was a wide ruff of fur about her throat. She carried herself with the air of a tragedy queen, but her face bore the ravages of worry and anger.

She greeted Sue briefly and motioned her to a seat on a luxurious couch before an open fireplace. Then she turned to Haskins.

"Well, what brought you here? Did you want to see how I was suffering? You ARE a cruel beast."

He lit a cigar and took a puff or two.

"Now, see here, Corinna, for Heaven's sake be sensible. It's your own fault that you got canned. I told you I couldn't help you out time and time again. Of course, we will see that you get another part, and probably a better one, too; but there is no use crying over spilled milk. You'd better buck up and take this like a sport."

"Oh, yes," she laughed bitterly. "It is all very well for you to talk like that; but you haven't lost just your job in the middle of the summer, with nothing else in prospect, and all of Broadway laughing at you. Besides, I haven't any money saved up and I have got bills everywhere. Oh, you are a fine little comforter."

She lit a cigarette with trembling fingers, inhaled deeply, and then flung it with a grimace of distaste into the empty fireplace.

A sudden fury seemed to seize her; she turned on Haskins like a vicious cat.

"I wish you would go and take your sweet little friend with you," she made a dramatic gesture towards Sue, who was sitting wide-eyed and silent. "I'm tired of all of you. I never want to see any of you again. You came only to gloat over me, to make a fool of me. Well, you have had your fun, now go! There is only one person who gives a hoot; he is out now, doing what he can for me. The rest of you don't count! I hate you, I hate you, I hate you!"

In a storm of tears, she flung herself into a chair. Haskins picked up his hat and stick and made a gesture to Sue. She rose quickly.

At the door he paused, and looked back at the weeping girl.

"If you'd put half that art into your performances, Corinna, you wouldn't get bounced in the middle of the summer. Think it over."

He put Sue in the car that waited below and closed the door for her. Just as they rode away, Sue caught a glimpse of Roger hurrying up the street; his face was set and intent, and he did not notice the occupants of the car.

Haskins saw him and muttered: "Poor fool, he is in for it now! Nothing can save him."

On her way back to the country, Sue met Joan at the train gate. The latter greeted her with surprise.

"What a courageous little thing you are to ramble around a strange city the way you do! It is amazing how quickly you have learned to find your way about."

Sue shook her head laughingly. "I don't dare leave Fifth Avenue and one small section of Broadway."

"There is many a real New Yorker who knows less than that," said Joan with a smile. "But I wish I could show you the really interesting New York. I had hoped you would come down to the East Side with me—so many strange things happen there. There is so much tragedy and so much mystery that is never solved. Only today we had a curious case at the settlement. I was sent for to visit a woman who is ill and friendless and alone; it seems that she came as a roomer some time ago in a tenement house where we have had many cases. The people there know nothing about her, and she will tell nothing. I want to see her, expecting to find a poor derelict, and I found a strikingly handsome woman, very obviously educated and cultured. I noticed that her undergarments were silk and seemed to be monogrammed; yet she is penniless and sick, and has had to let the Italian woman who keeps the flat appeal to a charitable organization for aid for her. Don't you think there is romance there, and tragedy, perhaps? And that is only one of the many similar cases which come to our attention daily."

"I WILL come down," Sue promised. "Honestly, I mean to. I think you are perfectly splendid to come into the hot city and help unfortunate people, when you ought to be having a lot of fun in the country."

Joan shook her head sadly. "I am not splendid at all. I am afraid my motive is really selfish. When I see other people who are unhappy, I forget how unhappy I am."

Sue knew she was thinking of Tony, so she made no comment. Always she had hoped that Joan would give her her confidence. But Joan's reticence apparently made no exception.

As they passed down the aisle of the train, looking for a vacant seat, they came face to face with Mrs. Darlington. Sue recalled the cool little greeting that she had vouchsafed Joan on a previous occasion, and remembering, too, how Mrs. Blanchard had been snubbed, she expected to see the lady sail haughtily past. But instead, she stopped and held out a cordial hand to Joan.

"We see so little of you these days, my dear, I'm afraid you are spending too much time in town." She glanced over Joan's shoulder at Sue and smiled charmingly. "I have been hearing so much about her."

Rather dazedly, Joan made the introduction.

"We are so happy to have you with us, my dear," the lady beamed graciously upon Sue. "But you must not let them guard you so jealously. We have scarcely had a glimpse of you since you arrived."

She turned to Joan. "You remember my little niece who visited me last summer? She is coming again next week and I was thinking only this morning how nice it would be to give a little series of parties for her and Miss Drummond. You are just about an angel, aren't you?"

Sue promised. She was very much puzzled by Mrs. Darlington's sudden change of front. Joan enlightened her, however, when they had finally found a seat in the rear car.

"It's your engagement to Alvin Teal," she explained. "Mrs. Darlington is a perfect type of Iowa hunter. She is forever getting into some celebrity and parading him in her drawing room. It is her ambition to be thought intellectual, and I believe she always hopes to attract a frightfully highbrow crowd by holding out some author, or poet, or artist as bait."

"Does she know Mr.—er—Alvin?"

"Apparently not, but apparently, also, she wishes to. That's why she was so gracious today. She will give you the rush of your life if she thinks she can lure him in to her drawing room. To be able to entertain him would be a feather in her hat, because he has always refused to be lionized—as, of course, you know."

Under Joan's inspiring glance, Sue felt herself blushing guiltily. She realized that she knew dangerously little about her fiancé and the part of wisdom was to correct this.

She went to her room shortly after dinner that night, on the plea of a headache; but her light was burning until the early hours of the morning. Propped up comfortably on cushions, she skimmed through all four volumes of Alvin Teal's work. She was fascinated in spite of herself. The writer had style and personality; he was both forceful and charming. She caught herself visualizing the man with the aid of the photograph on the book wrapper. Before she had finished, she had created in her own imagination a definite and wholly delightful character, and she was already half in love with him.

At luncheon next day, Roger, who was at home for once, said suddenly to Sue:

"If you have some time to spare, I wish you would tell me something about this fellow Teal—how he works and all that sort of thing. I dare say you know that I am brine like the mischief to be a playwright. I have got some three-quarters done, and I think it's pretty good. I would like to have somebody look it over—somebody I could trust. We authors," he made a humorous grimace, "have the Dickens of a time with people reading our ideas. I got stewed one night last year and told a so-called friend of mine the plot for a play I had in mind. It is running on Broadway now in a one-act 'vaudeville' style, and my former friend is drawing down the royalties."

"I am afraid I could not help much," Sue protested. "But, at least, I am a safe listener. Won't you read your play to me?"

Roger agreed with alacrity, and taking her to the library, locked the door against intrusions.

"If Josephine should come in, she would laugh her head off," he explained. "The whole family thinks I'm wasting my time fooling around with playwriting. They remind me that I ought to go to work selling bonds, or real estate, or something. Perhaps they are right, but I am not going to give it up before I have really had a crack at it."

"Didn't you say once that Mr. Haskins could be useful to you along that line?" Sue asked. He shrugged.

"Not any more. There is a girl back of it, as you probably guessed. I wouldn't trust Haskins now. I haven't even told him that I am working on a play."

He unlocked the drawer of a desk, and took out a bulky brief case.

"Make yourself comfortable," he advised her, "because there are three acts to this; and if it puts you to sleep, please do me the favor of snoring quietly and unobtrusively in your chair. I get so enthusiastic over the darn thing I won't even notice, and you can wake up at the final curtain, and, sitting a yawn, say politely: 'That was very charming. I enjoyed it immensely.'"

Sue laughed and seated herself in a deep chair. Roger drew a sheet of typewritten papers from the brief case and commenced to read. As he progressed, his enthusiasm grew. He made his characters very real, and put a good bit of histrionic ability in the dialogue. Sue was really interested.

He had, indeed, an excellent idea, well carried out; but she found one act, which was supposed to take place in the country, very unreal and rather ludicrous. The leading girl character was frightfully out of drawing too; she was supposed to be a girl with much the same upbringing as Sue herself, but into Roger's delineation had crept characteristics which belonged unmistakably to women like Josephine on the one hand, and Corinna de Verne on the other. The characters struck a false note in what might otherwise have been charming harmony.

When he had laid aside the manuscript, Roger looked at Sue. "Well, what do you think of it? Don't spare me, I can stand it!" Sue told him quite frankly. He was silent a while; then he drew a deep sigh.

"I dare say you're right; I never thought about those things you mention. That girl Philippa—I sort of had a hunch she did not ring true. I guess I should not have tried to write about a girl like that. I never knew one until you came. But, you see, she had to be that sort of girl to make the story, and you have got to admit that the story itself is a peach. I don't claim the credit for it. It was told me by somebody who can't write and has no desire to write; but it actually happened, and if I can only get the idea across, I would stake my future on it. I don't claim the credit for it."

"Let me help you," Sue suggested. "I can't write, of course, but I know a lot about the sort of life you are trying to describe in the second act especially, and I rather think I know, too, what Philippa would do in certain circumstances."

He stared at her a moment with uncertainty. "By Jove, I believe you could help. It would be awfully sweet of you. We will try a little collaboration, and if the play ever gets across, I promise you a percentage."

"When do we start?" asked Sue eagerly. "I think it will be great fun."

Roger shook his head. "It will be hard work, because I have a bad temper when I'm writing; but at any rate, I'll be putting you in training for your future career as Mrs. Alvin Teal. I bet that boy has temperament and that there is no living in the same home with him when he is working on a new novel."

They finally agreed to start working the next morning, and not to mention it to the family for fear of ridicule.

Roger looked suddenly at his watch and whistled.

"Gee, I had a date in town half an hour ago. Mind if I rush?"

He crammed the manuscript back in the brief case, locked it away hastily, and dashed from the room.

Quite a while after he had gone, Sue noticed a square of paper on the floor beside the chair he had occupied. It had apparently fallen from his manuscript. She picked it up curiously.

It was a sheet of marbled paper, delicately scented, and written over in a bold, dashing, individual hand. "Corinna" was signed at the end.

Sue stared at it for a full minute before her mind awakened to the fact that she had seen that same stationery and that same unmistakable handwriting somewhere before.

Cosy Garments for Baby

COZY garments for baby are quite inexpensive to buy in the shops ready made and very simple to make at home. The little knitted sweaters and butterfly shaped socks, or wrap-arounds, are not hard to knit and may be made of white wool with pink or blue borders. Many of them have a little silk stitchery on them to make them more dressy in appearance.

A yard square of soft, fleecy flannel makes an excellent garment to protect baby. It is made by holding two points even in the front and a third in the center of the back, the fourth point forming the hood. The hood is lined with soft silk and gathered in a little ruffle around the baby's face. The extreme point may be cut off or folded back as a trimming on top of the hood. If the flannel is warm enough, the body of the wrap need not be lined. The hem may be cut stitched in the color of the lining and ribbon ties.

Instead of knitting the old-fashioned socks, the stockings are being made that are long like a stocking with loops to pin them to the diaper to hold them in place. The foot is knitted heavier than the leg. The regular sock colors are used. Many mothers are knitting the bellybands themselves of the finest Saxony wool, making them longer than those one can buy, with a double tail in front to pin them with and narrow shoulder straps that keep them in place. The little garments should be carefully washed and dried on a pad so they do not stretch and get out of shape.

For home wear, the little white flannel sacks, ribbon bound or with scalloped edges, are pretty and easily kept clean. These simple little garments save the better silk or embroidered ones for more dressy wear. Little sacks made of silk jersey cloth are rather new and very attractive. The material clings to the body and when made up has a fitted look that is rather quaint and old-fashioned like those seen in old paintings.

Two of five scholarships awarded at Bryn Mawr College were won by Miss Marion E. Bailey of Philadelphia.

Not Pieced From The Same Pattern

He Never Wore a Collar Button, But He Had Backbone Enough to Live Out His Life as He Wished.

By WINIFRED BLACK

AUGUST D. BISHOP died the other day. And he took his first ride in an automobile when they drove him to the cemetery in a motor hearse.

Seems kind of a pity they didn't get an old-fashioned hearse with horses.

Mr. Bishop was rather an interesting man, come to think of it. He'd never been ill a day in his life. He never had a tooth pulled or a finger lanced—he never saw an electric street car, he never rode in an automobile, he never went to a city but once in his life and that was over thirty years ago.

He saw a five-story building in Kansas City and he went right back home and said he never wanted to see another one.

He never wore a collar button in his life—he lived in a neat little house in a neat little street. He had all kinds of friends all over the country, he never heard of psychology or psychic reactions in his life.

He wouldn't know a Charleston if he should see it danced right before his face and eyes, he never saw a beauty contest and as to a publicity agent he wouldn't have known what on earth you were talking about if you mentioned one.

Crazy? Not he. He was just sane enough to do what he wanted to do and no more and any man who has strength of mind enough to live as he pleases and not as the neighbors think he ought to live deserves a wreath of roses at the very least.

We are all getting to be machine-made—we Americans. Tom Jones looks like Bill Smith and Mrs. Tom Jones wears the same kind of a hat as Mrs. Bill Smith and Mrs. Bill Smith drives the same kind of motor car that Tom Jones and his wife drive. And all the little Smiths and all the little Joneses look and act and talk and dress and think exactly alike.

We're all paper dolls cut out of the same pattern. Don't you get tired of it sometimes?

Tired of the imitation and the copying and the I'm-as-good-as-he-is spirit?

Well, perhaps, Mr. Augustus Bishop wouldn't exactly rank as a progressive, forward looking, up-to-date influential citizen—he didn't belong to the Boosters and he never made a speech at a Chamber of Commerce meeting in his life. But I'll warrant he was the best kind of a company on a fishing trip and I know I'd just love to sit in the shade of an old black walnut tree and listen to a man like him tell fish stories and hunting stories and dog stories and stories about his little grandson and his teeniest granddaughter.

And I wouldn't care whether he wore a collar or not, would you? And wouldn't it be sort of a relief to meet somebody who doesn't want to talk about the everlasting whiffles of the what-just-because everybody else in the world is talking about it?

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

What to Do With Them.

When a number of sandwiches are left over from the party, dip each one in pancake batter and fry in butter until a light brown and serve hot the next day for lunch.

Easier to Handle.

So often the bowl is inclined to wander about on the smooth kitchen table when making mayonnaise. Try placing the bowl on a folded towel when both hands are to be occupied. It will prevent skidding.

Scale Tobacco.

If the room is heavy with tobacco smoke when you retire, put a basin of water in the room and leave it overnight. If possible leave the window open a little bit. The air will be fresh by morning.

Black Satin Slippers.

Black satin slippers are very apt to become rusty looking if not given a little care now and then. Just rub them over with a dark cloth dipped in gasoline and it will bring back the original luster in short order.

When she was elected Mayor of Higham Ferrary, England, in a recent election, Mrs. F. J. Simpson became the first American woman ever to become Mayor of an English town.

There is no place in that world legend of this sort as yet. The city is a gabled roof, between canals and tiny bridges, enough to lead the eye to the picture reality to the scene passes through it.

DO'S AND DON'TS BUSINESS WOMEN

There is joy in the big endeavors uniting the hearts of mankind and found in any other pursuit. When you give your money to a noble cause, you feel that you really "belong."

If by any chance you sacrifice on your part—perhaps foregoing a few dollars or an extra pair of gloves or stockings—you will receive the sensation of giving. For true sacrifice brings the signature to a check.

In our world's no man or woman can live entirely unto himself. It is true, is being developed, in generous measure, the doctrine of "the right to live one's own life" and demand for helping the other fellow to win the right.

Giving or not giving is largely a habit of mind. Do not get the idea. To say "Yes" will be much more satisfying than a bigger and broader man or woman.

Do not let the rich man's moderate income did not dream that she could do anything else. It is merely "playing the game" of the most modern sense.

When disaster overtakes, whether flood in Ohio, famine in China, earthquake, or evacuation in the Near East—every man and woman is glad to send his dollar to help succor the need.

When one of the organizations for children and young people needs a vacation camp, or gymnasium equipment, or anything that promotes intelligent and responsible womanhood—it is the business man and woman who gladly comes forward and gives it to them.

Each community has needs. Each town knows best how to provide for its weak babyhood, its struggling students, and its old at Christmas. The form of philanthropy years may matter. But unless you do your share, you are doing nothing.

RELIEF FOR EACH FEDERAL TAXPAYER PROVIDED IN NEW REVENUE DRAFT

House Committee to Pre sent to Congress on Dec
7 Measure for Reduction Totaling $336,236,000.

SOME CHANGES
ON FLOOR LIKELY

Chairman Green Confident That Measure Will Be Cleared Before the Christmas Recess.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The tax reduction bill as completed and unanimously approved by the Ways and Means Committee will go to the House providing for an estimated cut of $336,236,000 annually in the Federal tax burden.
The measure, which will be presented to the House on the opening day of Congress, Dec. 7, provides relief for every Federal Taxpayer and through increased personal exemptions would remove more than a million persons from payment of any Federal tax.
The principal portion of reduction is given to income taxpayers, whose annual burden would be cut by $122,775,000, beginning with taxes to be paid in the next calendar year. Cuts in the normal rates and surtaxes account for most of this.

Chairman Green of the committee is confident that the measure will be disposed of in the House before the Christmas recess. (Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee predicts early action when it reaches that body and expresses hope to have the measure passed into law by March 1, 1927, days before the first income tax payments of the new year are due.) Changes on Floor Likely.
While the bill was framed by the committee on a nonpartisan basis and was given unanimous approval members reserved the right to propose changes when it is considered on the floor of the House.
Fights are expected to be made there against the proposed cuts in the inheritance tax rates, including the provision for a retroactive reduction in this levy, and for repeal of the automobile passenger car tax, which the committee cut from 6 to 3 per cent.

While the revisions voted by the committee are estimated by the Treasury to carry the total reduction $26,226,000 over the figure originally set by the committee, it approved this total after receiving later reports from the Treasury that the surplus in this fiscal year would reach $220,000,000, instead of $230,000,000, as first estimated.
The committee voted yesterday to make the revised excise taxes, many of which were repealed, effective upon enactment of the bill into law, and to make the revised occupational levies effective July 1, 1926.

Tax on Opera Eliminated.
The committee voted yesterday to exempt the spoken drama and opera from the 10 per cent ad valorem tax. No other change was made in this levy, which now applies on admissions of more than 10 cents, nor was the tax on dance altered. The exemption agreed upon specifies "spoken drama," which is termed legitimate or standard drama, or an opera, or musical comedy, as distinguished from ephemeral productions of the stage, such as revues, burlesques and extravaganzas.

Chairman Green will call the committee together Dec. 2 to ratify the work of drafting clerks and a subcommittee charged with clarifying up some details of the general provisions.

Principal Cuts.
The principal tax-reducing provisions of the now completed bill include:
Reduction of the normal income tax rates from 2 to 1 per cent on the first $4000 of taxable income, from 4 to 3 per cent on the next $4000 and from 6 to 5 per cent on the remainder.
Reduction of the surtax rates, beginning with incomes of $10,000, so that the graduated scale would have a maximum of 20 per cent applying on the amount of income in excess of $100,000. The present maximum is 40 per cent applying on $100,000 and over.
Increase of personal exemptions from $1000 to $1500 for single persons and from $2500 to $3500 for married persons.
Increase of the amount of income on which the 28 per cent credit for "earned income" is allowed from $10,000 to $20,000.
Repeal of the gift tax, involving $2,000,000 revenue annually.
Reduction of the inheritance tax.

OLD SONGS MADE NEW.

Oh, dem golden slippers,
On his feet were nothing but Golden slippers for King Tut;
Oh, dem golden slippers,
Oh, dem golden slippers;
Dem golden slippers he's gwine to wear
To climb the golden stair.

TOO TRUE.

Jim Jeffries can sympathize with Kip. Jeff also came to grief by not drawing the color line.

A Texas oil baron recently paid $5600 for a special train to take him from St. Louis to New York and save 3 hours and 39 minutes thereby. Money makes the mare go and oil makes the engine go.

the consumer.

OLD STUFF.

It has been suggested to play the world's series in different cities.
The Browns and Detroit and Browns and New York Giants once strung their world's series all over the country. By the time the Browns and Giants reached St.
Louis the Browns had already lost the series and the fans had lost interest.
